Sew what? Saturday seminar can help

Schoolcraft College will offer its 11th annual sewing seminar Saturday, April 11.

Beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing to 4 p.m. on the campus at 18600 Haggerty in Livonia, the event will offer 46 separate workshops covering all areas of sewing-related subjects. For a brochure describing the seminar, or more information, call the college's Continuing Education Services at 462-4448.

Open to the public, the seminar is priced at $45 per person, with an optional luncheon priced at $7.

LINDA Turner Griepentrog, editor of the popular publication Sew News, will be keynote speaker at the luncheon this year. She has also worked with sewing schools and major department stores and as a travelling home economist for a prominent sewing machine company.

Her topics will include fashion and sewing in the '90s, what people will be wearing in the year 2000, sewing/fusing garments together and new notions and fibers.

Among the workshop topics will be alterations, home decorating, sewing on handwovens, patternless fashions, tailoring, clothing embellishment and luxurious lingerie.

Other sessions will include information on sergers, fabric painting, beading and sequinning, children's clothes, working with fine fabrics, sewing for the full-figured woman, quilts and quiltwear and special occasion dressing.

ALSO FEATURED will be numerous displays showing the latest sophisticated technology in sewing machines and serger equipment, new fabrics on the market, needlepoint supplies and all types of notions.

A book sale will feature volumes in all areas of sewing, all recommended by members of the teaching staff.

Area residents who will teach at the sewing seminar include Lauri Fenster of West Bloomfield, Barbara Gash and Judy Graning of Bloomfield Hills, Carol Hoke of Troy, and Georgie Jackson, Carol B. Scott and Peg Treacy of Birmingham.

Oakland County volunteers assist DIA

Oakland County residents are serving on the 501-member Volunteer Committee of the Founders Society, Detroit Institute of Arts.

The committee is in its 30th year of dedication to the museum. During the 1990-91 year, this group gave 55,346 hours of service.

Based on a 40-hour week, this accomplished the tasks of 27 full-time employees at a minimum salary of $20,000 a year for a 40-hour work week.

Volunteers donate their time and talent on seven separate service committees. They present docent-guided tours in the museum to the public and school groups. Slide talks are given to schools in the metropolitan Detroit area.

They coordinate mailings, staff the museum shops, assist visitors at information desks and in the galleries. Memberships are increased by their enthusiasm and many hours of service.

SERVING ON the committee's 48-member Board of Directors this year are Executive Board members Kay Duncan of Bloomfield Hills, chairman; Judi Lapp of Birmingham, first vice chairman; Rosemary Harm of Southfield, recording secretary; and Joan Roberts of Bloomfield Hills, treasurer; all of the Volunteer Board Committee.

Other committee members are Dody Weil of Orchard Lake, chairman of art to schools; Lois Lesser of Birmingham, chairman of docents; Wendy Evans of Bloomfield Hills, vice chairman of docents; Delphine Sheridan of Orchard Lake, second vice chairman of gallery information; Shirley Broder of Birmingham and Elaine Wagmann of Troy, co-chairmen of Museum Shop; Sandy Shepherd of Southfield, vice chairman of Museum Shop.

Also, Judy Knowles of Birmingham, vice chairman of speakers bureau; Shirley O'Brien of Birmingham, chairman of volunteer membership; Leah Drachler of Southfield, chairman of enrichment; June Hauck of Royal Oak, vice chairman of Founders openings; Bonnie Helmbrock of Bloomfield Hills, chairman of publicity, Janet Prince of Bloomfield Hills, chairman of Founders openings.

Also, Cyvia Snyder of West Bloomfield and Mary Ann Simon of Bloomfield Hills, co-chairmen of Day Away With the DIA; Malca Wechsler of West Bloomfield, vice chairman of community relations; Martha Beechler of Bloomfield Hills, chairman of annual meeting; Trudi Wineman of Huntington Woods, chairman of nominating, Delphine Andrews of Bloomfield Hills, parliamentarian, Ed Cavanary Jr. of Southfield, photographic coordinator; and Leslie Craigie of Birmingham, chairman of community relations.

For more information on serving on the DIA Volunteer Committee, call Auxiliary Services at 833-0247.
