SOAP TALK

Reader objects to Roman's charade

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I only watch one soap, Days of Our Lives, and I'm about to stop watching it. I can't believe that the writers would have Roman dress up as a housekeeper named Hazel. If his kids had any intelligence at all, they would know that she/he is not for real. A 2-year-old could tell the difference.

My next complaint is about the sex scenes. Sometimes they will have three on a show and two of them are going on at the same time. I don't think the general public enjoys all this sex.

I also think making John and Lawrence brothers is a little far out. And Matthew Ashford is such a good actor, I don't understand why they insist on writing stupid lines for him.

If it doesn't improve, I won't be watching any soaps at all. —John Haskins, Manteca, Calif.

Dear Reader: I hate to say it, but sex sells on the soaps. There are other soaps that seem to handle this type of situation a little more delicately. I think it is great that John and Lawrence are brothers. What a great combination of good and evil! I personally can't wait to see the sparks fly!

Dear Candace: I would like to know the whereabouts of the talented actress who played Felicia on General Hospital. —L. Simpson, Ashland, Ky.

Dear Reader: Kristina Malandro (Felicia) is returning to the show, sans husband Jack Wagner (who was Frisco but now appears on Santa Barbara as Warren). She had originally left the show to spend time with their son Petey.

Dear Candace: I'm writing to ask if Jake (Joe Lando) on One Life to Live will be returning to the show, and if so when? —Mrs. Eulice Dunn, High Point, N.C.

Dear Reader: Lando is in California working on prime-time pilots. He just finished one for CBS tentatively titled Medicine Women with Jane Seymour and Diane Ladd.

He really has no plans to return to the soaps for a while, though he has expressed an interest in doing a summer or a couple of weeks at a time on One Life to Live.
