Changes bring about very few alterations

Because of the new WLAA, Harrison won't meet North Farmington in football this year. Scheduling won't allow it. In three of the last four years, the winner of this game qualified for the state grid playoffs.

NEW RULES — The Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) has bowed to heavy criticism from public-school officials and done something about alleged recruiting of prep athletes. A new rule bans a transfer student from participating in sports for one semester.

New rules, but same old problems. A lawsuit, filed by Peter Taucher of Troy, claims the MHSAA-imposed controls are unconstitutional. Taucher is particularly interested in overturning the transfer rule, a sanction limiting the number of hockey games a team can play, and a restriction banning travel of more than 300 miles to games.

A typical dilemma for Vern Norris, executive director of the MHSAA. There was another lawsuit filed against the association last spring by a group of Ann Arbor-based women who charged that the MHSAA with sex bias.

Understandably, the MHSAA was slow to impose the transfer rule. And, as Norris must have expected, the rule would lead to litigation.

All for the fun of the game.

NEW PLAYOFFS — Speaking of the MHSAA, it now has a new sport under its auspices — soccer. It's about time. There certainly is need for control here.

One example of how fair a "state playoff" system can be without a governing body is enough. Last year, Troy Athens beat Livonia Stevenson for the supposed boys' state soccer title.

Only one problem. Utica Eisenhower beat Athens during the regular season, and, despite a fine record, Eisenhower never even got an invite to the playoffs.

For Eisenhower, it was obviously a case of who you know, rather than how good you are. Eisenhower didn't have enough pull among the coaches making the selection, therefore, they were left out.

The MHSAA should improve on such a sham. "Should" is the key word. The MHSAA has not always ruled wisely, heartlessly sticking to the rules that hurt both those involved and itself.

Just last year, the MHSAA tried to ban Willow Run from the football playoffs. The association said the school didn't call in the results from its final football game for the computer rankings. The MHSAA relented when the cause of the delay was discovered in miscommunication in its own offices.

Then there was Marty Piper, a Salem wrestler who missed his wrestling match in the state regional finals because of a car accident. The top two in each weight class qualify for the state finals, so Piper should qualify, right?

Wrong. Piper, who had a realistic shot at the heavyweight title, was ruled out of the state tourney by the MHSAA because he didn't wrestle in the regionals.

The moral: Just because the MHSAA is involved, doesn't mean things will be any better.

NEW PREDICTIONS — OK, sport fans, here's a promise that one change will be made with no lapses into the past. Last year, Oakland sports editor Marty Budner hit on nearly 70 percent of his high-school football predictions.

On the Wayne desk, Brad Emons was correct 69 percent of the time, and yours truly was right on 65 percent of his picks.

That will change — I vow it. I'll even bet a burger on it.

Superides slated

March of Dimes Superide, a 75-kilometer bike-a-thon against birth defects, takes place Saturday, Sept. 11, at Belle Isle and Stony Creek Metropark, and Sunday, Sept. 12, at Grosse Ile.

Superiders collect pledges for each kilometer they pedal. All proceeds raised from the event will help the March of Dimes fight birth defects via medical research, educational programs and community service projects.

To sign up, call the Superide hotline at 863-3000.

There are incentives to make the event appealing to local bikers. Prizes range from Superide patches, T-shirts and jackets, to 10-speed bicycles (for collecting pledges totalling $750 or more).

Superiders will begin biking at 8 a.m. Belle Isle bikers take off from the Casino, Stony Creek riders depart at Baypoint Beach, and Grosse Ile bikers take off from the airport on Groh Road.

Detroit Tigers Milt Wilcox and Lynn Jones are honorary chairmen.
