FORMS ANALYST

Manufacturers Bank has an immediate opportunity for an individual to join our business forms design team. This position requires design and revision of business forms and consultation with management of user departments to determine and evaluate their needs.

Other responsibilities include the design and specification preparation for forms in accordance with departmental and systems requirements, and ongoing analysis of current future needs in order to eliminate duplication and to consolidate similar forms. Special department projects including workflow design and improvements, internal procedural development, equipment studies and evaluation and cost benefit analysis would be additional responsibilities.

Qualified candidates will possess an Associate's degree or equivalent, including formal training in graphic arts, drafting or methods analysis. Previous forms analysis and design experience or a proven track record in a position requiring strong analytical skills is required. Excellent written and verbal communication skills are a must. If you meet the qualifications, send your resume and salary history in confidence to:
