The Farmington Community Library Names Riti Grover as Director

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Farmington Hills, MI – The Farmington Community Library is proud to welcome Riti Grover as its new Director. Grover takes over for Elyse Streit, who left in May. The Library Board of Trustees approved her appointment at their November 14 meeting.

Grover has most recently served as Director of the Kanawha County Public Library in West Virginia. Prior to that she was Director at the Ramsey Free Library and the Norwood Public Library, both part of the Bergen County Cooperative Library System in New Jersey. She worked her way up from Page to Director at the Norwood Public Library after receiving her Master's in Library Science at Wayne State University.

"It is my honor to be working with such an excellent team at FCL!", said Grover.

Board Trustees considered Grover's experience a key consideration in choosing her as Director, said Board President, Jim White. "She will be able to lead us into an exciting and challenging future."

Grover is expected to start in Farmington on January 2, 2020.

The Farmington Community Library serves Farmington and Farmington Hills.
