WAY COOL

The Board of Directors of the 17th annual Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular Inc. proudly announces the 1999 event dates: Wednesday, Jan. 13 through Monday, Jan. 18.

The Plymouth festival is the oldest and largest ice carving event in North America. Each year, more than 500,000 visitors travel to this quaint town to see hundreds of professional, amateur, college and high school students transform 400,000 pounds of block ice into dazzling works of art.

The competitions for the 1999 festival will be sanctioned by the prestigious American Culinary Federation. Over $10,000 in prize money and scholarships will be awarded.

Other activities of special interest include the Farmer Jack Fantasyland presented in conjunction with First of America Bank and Media One. This year's theme is "Insects Inside," and will feature displays of wild and crazy bugs.

Also, see the Bud Light 24 Light Show, the Ford Ice Carving Competitions and the Community Federal Credit Union Student Carving Competitions.

The event is open 24 hours a day, and the sculptures are lighted at night. Event hotline number is (734) 459-9157.

IN AND OUT

Jacobson's announces its take on coming trends for 1999. Store your real and faux fur; embellish with brocade, lace and embroidery. Gray no longer matters; lighten up in white, aquamarine and turquoise.

Trade in your vitamin creams for anti-aging products. No need to indulge in at-home spa retreats; a little at-home aromatherapy should do the trick. Boleros are in; halter tops are out. Microfibers give way to iridescent cottons.

Get back to nature with leaf motifs, butterflies and dragonflies. Stilettos may have been sexy, but flats are cool and comfy. Capri pants and long skirts return to the streets this summer. Peasant blouses debut; no more sweater sets.

Get ready for spring!

YOUNG AND VIBRANT

Estee Lauder introduces new products and collections for Spring '99. Resilience LIFT, for women in their 40s, 50s and beyond, was created to counteract skin conditions that result from hormonal aging, such as dryness, dullness and discoloration.

It helps skin cells produce more collagen, immediately brightening skin upon application.

Go Tropical is Estee Lauder's color collection for spring. Tropical inspired, the collection combines an island color palette of pink, purple and fuchsia with bright bursts of turquoise, yellow and lilac, as seen on the runways.

Declaration's unique blend of Italian, Russian and African essences makes it an irresistibly exotic fragrance.

I DECLARE

Cartier's new fragrance, Declaration, is both exotic and complex, capturing the essence of Cartier and evoking shades of vast, dark forests, sun-soaked orchards and patiently-tilled gardens.

Declaration is composed of Russian birchwood, Italian bergamot, bitter oranges from the Ivory Coast and highlighted with wormwood, cardamom, cedarwood, vetiver and oak-moss. The result is a declaration of love that might be shared this Valentine's Day.
