Daffodils . . . Essence Of Spring

With the final debut of Spring onto our calendar, it has become very evident around the school rooms—in particular, the Home-making department.

This effect has been brought to our attention by the very colorful display in the show case in the lobby of the gym. Two sun-back dresses—one with a blouse and the other with a bolero jacket—and a broomstick skirt comprised the contents this past week.

Miss Rich added a bouquet of daffodils to emphasize the Spring idea.

The ledges and bulletin boards are attractively decorated to suggest practical spring wardrobes, meals, recreation, and arranging of the "new-season" flowers.

Schools Reach War Bond Goal

During the month of March the combined efforts of the grade and high schools resulted in a $2,217.05 sale of War stamps and bonds.

The total high school sales for January, February and March amounted to $3,045.50—or an average war investment of 66 cents a person a week during the twelve weeks.

'TIS SAID . . .

This week just didn't seem to be so very exciting but maybe we can manage to scrape something up.

Have you heard about that senior girl who was carrying a little mouse around in a match box? She thought it was cute. Gosh, Jane, just the thought runs shivers up and down my spine!

My old wireless is working overtime getting news on the Senior Prom. They are havin' committee meetings right and left. Guess it really is going to be something.

The Girls' Bowling team really had fun. In fact some of the stories we have heard are a scream. But guess they shouldn't be repeated.

—Ima Surchin.

P.S. Tis said there's no school Friday. Classes will be dismissed so students can attend Good Friday services.

Band Concert Proves Successful

An enthusiastic crowd turned out for the band concert Friday evening.

Miss Phyllis Wagner, soloist of the evening, sang three songs. They were: "Without a Song," "Because", and "He Met Her on the Stair."

GRADE SCHOOL ACTIVITIES ADD TO PROGRAM

Miss Craig, grade school principal, took the following pupils to Milford for the District Spelling Bee Friday, April 16: Vera Dietrich; the runner-up, John Pettibone; fifth grade winner, Bob Starr; sixth grade winner, Marilyn Morton, and seventh grade winner, Marjorie Hunt.

Vera missed on the word "privilege."

On Saturday Miss Craig, Mrs. Sauve and Mrs. Pierce drove the Farmington Grade school branch of the Young Writers' Club to the Detroit News auditorium, where they put on a play for other Young Writers. The play was written from contributions by the Young Writers and was directed by Peggy Labadie. The title of the play was "School Days." The members who went were: Joyce Boyd, Bob Brant, Hubert Cohen, Thelma Collins, Shirley Ann Edgar, June Elkin, Donald Howard, Marjorie Hunt, Priscilla Johnson, Marilyn Jones, Rosalie Kemp, Delores Kreuger, Peggy Labadie, Lee Lathrup, Jeanette Louys, Ann Pierce, Doris Crook, Jim Martin, Jeanette Quick, Gloria Sauve, Marilyn Vivier and Bob Weaver.

On Thursday the seventh and eighth grade boys had another baseball game, with the same captains and umpires as before. The seventh grade boys were victorious with the score 8-0.

Girls Start Bowling League

Who said the girls couldn't bowl! Last Tuesday night it was proved that they could. Marie Slusser led with the score of 165, followed by Mary Jane Smith with 144.

There were ten girls out.

The girls appreciate the help they received from Miss Wishmeier, Miss Abbott and Miss Allison.

They are planning to go every Tuesday night at 4 o'clock. Anyone may come. . . —Clara Billing.

Form Marines Early

Marines have been a vital part of our fighting forces since the Revolution when 12 of the 13 original states maintained navies with their complements of marines, some of whom served on the large privateers.

Mrs. Charles Muether is rapidly recovering from a recent operation.

Use Old Sweaters

Many of the attractive multi-colored sweaters now in vogue are made of the remnants of two or more old or outworn knitted garments. Before the castoffs are taken apart, they should be washed in soap and water, and the wool will be easier and pleasanter to handle.

—AND THE SPRING TUNE-UP OF YOUR CAR SHOULD BE DIFFERENT, TOO!

NO MORE TOP SPEEDS!
You'll be driving at "35-and-under" this spring—and your car's timing, circuit breaker, carburetor, spark plugs, choke and heat controls should be adjusted for smoother low-speed performance.

NO MORE HIGH-OCTANE GAS
We use lower-octane gas today, so our flyers may have high-octane fuel. To prevent wasteful "pinging," your engine should be readjusted to its new diet. Whatever service work may be needed, we do the job right.

LESS GASOLINE
In addition to giving your car a gas-saving springtime engine tune-up, you should also have it thoroughly checked for other causes of fuel waste, such as dragging brakes, leaky gas lines or the use of too heavy lubricants for today's low-speed driving.

LESS DRIVING
Your generator and voltage regulator should be put in top condition now to guard against the possibility of a rundown battery later on. Your battery itself should be checked at regular intervals.

CARS ARE BEING DRIVEN LONGER
As your car's mileage goes higher—as your brakes, lights, tires and steering system grow older—a thorough check-up of these features becomes vital to the safety of you and your family.

SLOWER DRIVING—SHORTER TRIPS
When you don't drive very much or very fast or very far, it's extremely important to keep fresh, clean oil in your engine at all times—because at slow speeds your crankcase ventilation system doesn't have much chance to prevent oil dilution.

OLDSMOBILE SERVICE

THIS wartime spring, it's important that you get your car set not only for warmer weather, but also for the new kind of driving you're doing today. We offer a springtime service program specifically designed to do both of these jobs. Whether you drive an Oldsmobile, or some other make of car, come in and find out about this special Oldsmobile service!

How to save war power in your own home

THERE is no shortage of electricity in this area. But electric power turns the wheels in thousands of war plants, producing planes and tanks and guns. Horsepower is WAR POWER—and should not be wasted. Here are a few simple rules for saving electricity in your own home:

If you have an electric range, use the waterless cooking method wherever possible. (Half-a-cup is ample for most vegetables. Don't waste electricity heating up large quantities of water.) Plan thrifty oven meals: Cooking a whole meal at one time is economical and saves time. Many of the new "meat-extender" recipes are tasty oven dishes. Use LOW heat to finish most of your surface cooking, after foods have reached the steaming point.

Practice the same care with your other electric appliances. Don't leave them turned on and then go away and forget them (your electric iron or toaster, for example). Disconnect the plug when they are temporarily not in use. Keep your electric refrigerator at top efficiency. (The better its condition, the less time it will run!) Defrost regularly, and locate it away from heat sources.

Get the most light from your lamps and fixtures by keeping them free from dust. Wipe lamp bulbs frequently, also reflector bowls and ceiling fixtures. Dust steals light and wastes as much as one-third of the electricity you pay for. Avoid dark-colored lamp shades (they soak up light). If you must use them, try fitting them with white linings. The Detroit Edison Company.
