Urges Warning to Children

Livonia Traffic Bureau Head Offers Safety Tips to Parents

School bells will be ringing shortly for more than 30,000 Livonia youngsters, whose lives will be in the hands of the automobile drivers who travel the city's streets daily.

"We are striving for a back-to-school period this year without one serious traffic accident involving a child," said Lieutenant Robert L. Mitchell of the Livonia Traffic Bureau. "This will be difficult because hundreds of children will be going to school for the first time and will be unfamiliar with crossing busy streets."

The Livonia Police Department offers the following advice for parents and children, Lt. Mitchell stated, "Parents should take their kindergarten children to school the first few days, instructing them as to what route to travel and emphasizing that they must always stop at the curb and look for cars before crossing the street. They should also remind older children of these same precautions.

"Parents should instruct their youngsters, young and old, kindergartner, eighth grader or high schooler, always to obey the safety patrol boys and school crossing guards, if there happens to be one or more assigned to a crossing they use.

This is a necessary safety precaution for little children. If older children disregard the directions given them, they set a bad example for their younger brothers and sisters.

"Children should take the same route to and from school each day. Most schools have the safest routes all laid out for children.

"The youngsters should not only follow the direction of the Safety Patrol Boys, but they should go right home after school and check in with their mothers. They should stop at the curb and look both ways before crossing," he added.

Ronald Stempien Eyes Nomination for Judgeship

Ronald R. Stempien, widely-known in state and county government circles, hopes to capture one of eight nominations in Tuesday's county-wide election of circuit judges.

Stempien, a veteran downriver attorney who is serving his third consecutive term as the mayor of Lincoln Park, is expected to finish high on the list of nominees in the hotly contested race. His bid for a judgeship is strongly endorsed by labor and civic groups alike.

Backed by 10 years' experience in city government and community projects, Stempien has gained wide recognition in state and county affairs. A member of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, the 36-year-old U of M graduate has played a key role in shaping county government procedures.

Following two years' service in the Navy, Stempien plunged into civic affairs in 1950. In his first bid for public office, he was elected to the Lincoln Park city council in 1959.

Stempien, who has six children, campaigned successfully for Mayor in 1961, a position he has held ever since.

Stempien received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Michigan and law degree for the Detroit College of Law.

Prior to moving to Lincoln Park, he resided in Dearborn, where he attended St. Alphonsus High School.
