FEED CLOVER, USE MANURES FOR POTATOES

A novel way of showing the value of manure in a proper crop rotation over plowed-down clover and rye without manure is offered by E. D. Longnecker, extension soil scientist at Michigan State College.

He compares two fields going through the same four-year rotation of corn, oats, clover and potatoes.

In field "A" the main clover crop is harvested as hay. The second clover crop plus eight tons of manure per acre are returned to the soil to benefit the potatoes that follow.

In field "B" the main clover crop is worked down and rye planted. Then the rye is turned down in the spring to plant potatoes.

Potatoes in field "A" outyield those in field "B" by 20 bushels to the acre. Although two crops — clover and rye — are given back to the soil in field "B" and one good clover hay crop is taken off field "A".

Junior jet maker, 18-year-old Henry Cassidy, Jr., of Painted Post, N. Y., built this unusual turbo-jet engine out of tin cans, stove pipe and other things he "found laying around the house." The engine burns natural gas or propane as fuel. The model has been entered in a contest for Westinghouse scholarships in Washington, D. C.

PEACH TREES NEED PRUNING SOON, ADVISES AGENT

By WILLARD E. BOSSERMAN
Asst. County Agent

How long will it take to prune your peach trees? This is an important question for you to ask yourself. First, is it better to wait until the tree starts to grow or just before it starts to grow, to prune? If you have just a few trees, you can wait until after the first of April to prune. However, if you have three or four weeks of work to do in pruning the peaches, it is a good idea to get started now.

The reason we wait until late as possible to prune is because peach tree canker grows and spreads during the dormant season. The shorter the time between pruning and when growth starts, the less time canker has to enter wounds.

Another reason for delaying pruning is to see if we will have cold enough weather to injure the buds. A check on peach tree fruit buds made February 4 in Farmington Township showed them to be 100% alive. I think that will be general pretty much throughout the county because we have had a mild winter. Unless we have some severe cold between now and warm weather this prospect will continue.

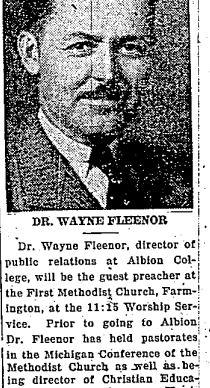
LADIES TO MEET

The Afternoon Circle of the W. S. C. S. will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. James Pender, 34110 Oakland, in Farmington. The meeting will take place on April 16 at 12:30 p.m., at which time a pot luck luncheon will be served.

Deep planting of oats does not provide a deep root system, warns Dr. K. J. Frey, MSC oat research specialist. The permanent root system starts in the top inch of soil. Oats planted too deep will burn themselves out, growing up, so they can start growing down.

Virginia's 262 mines turn out more than 20 million tons of bituminous coal annually.

To Speak Sunday



DR. WAYNE FLEENOR

Dr. Wayne Fleenor, director of public relations at Albion College, will be the guest preacher at the First Methodist Church, Farmington, at the 11:15 Worship Service. Prior to going to Albion Dr. Fleenor has held pastorates in the Michigan Conference of the Methodist Church as well as being director of Christian Education of that conference. He is an excellent preacher and will bring a dynamic message. Any youth interested in Albion College will have an opportunity to talk with Dr. Fleenor following the worship hour.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Samuel Billing wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for their kindness: special thanks to Rev. Carl Schultz for his comforting words; Mr. and Mrs. S. Heeney for their kind services; and members of the Edgewood Rebekah Lodge 290, during their recent sorrow.

Mrs. Samuel Billing, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beaver, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Billing and Grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to sincerely thank the many friends and neighbors who were so thoughtful and kind to us during the recent illness and death of our husband and father, Ira J. Magner. Also special thanks to Rev. Cadman Prout for his comforting words.

Mrs. Ira J. Magner, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wessling, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Magner, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McMillin.
