ALFETTA by Alfa Romeo

Alfetta. The name itself conjures up memories of Grand Prix victories on the world's most glamorous racetracks. All the excitement and prestige of one of the great names in Grand Prix racing.
That was Alfetta 158/159, cousin to the Alfa T-33, 1975 World Champion of Makes. Now there's a new Alfetta...but it isn't being built for glamorous racetracks. It's being built for you. Alfetta, a car of great beauty and power and the agility one expects only in a racer. A car which represents one of the most important automotive developments in a decade: the world's first truly balanced production automobile.
Gearbox, clutch and flywheel have been moved to the rear. This, together with inboard mountings of the rear disc brakes, has created a new center of gravity—that same center of gravity that helped the original Alfetta dominate Grand Prix racing. Equal weight fore and aft with you, the driver, in the middle—at one with your Alfetta. Another radical feature: the DeDion rear suspension, also borrowed from the original Alfetta, and until now much too costly a system for any but the most expensive cars.
Quicker, easier steering, race-car handling, maximum traction, and road-holding, that will astonish even the most sophisticated driver. Drive it. It becomes a part of you.
With our standard 5-speed gearbox, economical fuel injection, all aluminum DOHC engine and new low-drag wedge profile, Alfetta delivers a surprising 25 mpg. (EPA highway rating). Safety features include rigid passenger compartment protected by energy-absorbing zones front and rear, 4-wheel power disc brakes with dual circuits.
Alfetta. An attractive new force you should experience soon.
