Three thousand happy Livonia area folks last week crowded into the pleasant, air-conditioned Franklin High Auditorium on six occasions to see a spritely version of the world-famous musical "South Pacific."

"South Pacific" is the second summer school production honed to theatrical perfection by the dynamic duo: Music Director Ernst and Drama Director Hirvela.

Was it possible to top the success of last year's near-perfect "Music-Man?"

Yes, indeed, it was.

Mary Martin, Enzio Pinza, and the renowned Rodgers and Hammerstein would have agreed had they been able to view Livonia's version that the musical was "perfection personified."

If you missed this lively Livonia version of "South Pacific," start circling next year's calendar. With Ernst and Hirvela at the helm the 1967 musical is bound to be palooser, smasheroo, success.
