ABC strives to meet needs of its bowling membership

TEN-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

They call it "The Land of Enchantment," and that is a pretty accurate way to describe Albuquerque, N. M., site of this year's American Bowling Congress tournament and 109th ABC National Convention.

The tournament itself runs from March through June.

The convention took place last week with more than 1,200 delegates from throughout the USA and Canada taking part.

The ABC is recognized worldwide as the premier sports membership organization. It services almost two million members with a wide variety of benefits.

They include an awards program; standardized rules; bonding protection of league funds; system of bowling organization and coordination of local associations, new tournaments, education and league materials.

ABC is also on the internet with bowl.com as the window to millions of internet users.

Executive Director Roger Dalkin announced a strategic plan to develop and deliver these services to provide more than ever for the members and to guide the ABC.

Included are product changes and services, reworking the volunteer network, a [illegible]

"How [illegible] we all are to have this great organization, the American Bowling Congress, in place and working for us."

ABC is ours and I am proud to be a member.

•Keynote speaker at the ABC convention was Peter Vidmar, who led the U.S.A. gymnastics team to victory in the 1984 Olympics.

He is a great motivational speaker and demonstrated some of his moves on the pommel horse as he talked about this originality and virtuosity, three elements that it takes to rise above the ordinary competitor.

The same principles, he said, can be applied to our daily lives.

•During Saturday's activities we experienced a massive power failure.

Started by a careless smoker, electricity was completely out from El Paso to Las Vegas. The convention had just ended, but there were hundreds of bowlers competing at that time in the convention center.

The power was out for four [illegible] event, but not everyone knew about it.

•Larry Geiger was, until recently, the circulation manager of this newspaper.

He can still deliver — on the lanes — as he rolled his first 300 game at Woodland Lanes in Livonia.

He converted the dreaded 7-10 split a couple years ago, a feat most consider rarer than a perfect game.

Last year, I suggested he enter the Pro-Am event at Taylor Lanes when he said he needed a new ball. He did, and not only received the Storm 'El Nino Wrath,' he even cashed in the event.

Larry gives full credit to Ray Kreuter of Ray's Pro Shop at Westland Bowl for much of his recent success, as Ray drilled the ball.

He also watched Larry throw and made some good recommendations on his delivery (not the newspaper). Since then he has taken new responsibilities in promotional activities here at the Observer.
