PLAYERS GROUP TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING APRIL 24

The Annual Meeting of the Farmington Players will be held Saturday evening, April 24, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hannan, 26668 Howard Road, with four new members to be elected to the Board of Governors.

In addition to the annual election, a resume of the year's activities will be presented to the membership. Following the business meeting, a lecture-demonstration on theater make-up will be given by Professor Ralph Duckwall, Michigan State College.

Rehearsals have begun for the forthcoming production of the Players' group, to be presented in June. The play is entitled "A Murder Has Been Arranged", a mystery melodrama by Emlyn Williams. Mrs. George Nahstoll is directing the play.

business is alien to the fundamental concept of our government even these few should be rigidly examined and not permitted to give birth to others. Thomas Jefferson said: "Agriculture, manufacturing, commerce, and navigation, the four pillars of our prosperity, the then most thriving when left most free to individual enterprise."

In private enterprise there is the strong incentive of profit and the constant spur of competition, by outstripping every other producer in the country, a better product is made at lower cost. The prosperity and even the freedom of all Americans depend on our keeping the profit incentive and competition as our basic productive force.

claimed by processors, who favor super-fortified milk with a resulting benefit to farmers.

Dairy farmers got into the fray after hearing warnings from several food experts who were concerned that "doctoring up" of milk might move it from the food category into a drug or tonic class. Both Prof. Margaret Ohlson, Michigan State College diet authority, and Dr. Harry A. Towsley, pediatrician from the University of Michigan, have warned against that danger. Since nutritionists are a great force in promoting milk as an excellent food, farmers do not want to see anything happen that would lessen their support.

• • •

The bill that would outlaw super-fortification of milk passed the House some time ago and came up last week in the Senate when legislators were battling budget problems and several others. It lost by one vote. Democratic senators from Detroit were anxious to bury the issue still deeper. Sen. Charles S. Blondy and Sen. Charles C. Diggs, Jr., attempted this by the use of Senate rules and nearly succeeded.

Frantic do-or-die thinking by representatives of the Michigan Farm Bureau and others came up with a plan within the Senate rule structure -- and one that worked.

• • •

The proposal which failed to pass was quickly assembled as an amendment to another dairy bill. Letters in its support from the Michigan State Medical Society and from the State Department of Health were read by Republican Sen. Edward Hutchinson from Pennville. Both scientific groups opposed super fortification.

Sen. James M. Teahen, Jr. (R-Owosso) stimulated debate by charging, "I have never encountered so much lobbying as I have against this bill by the big creameries -- much of it misleading lobbying." He also needled: "I can't help but be interested in the enthusiasm shown against this bill by the Democratic senators from the great dairy area -- Detroit."

• • •

After dramatic debate the vote showed a clear victory for opponents of super-fortification. The final tally was by party lines: 23-8. Sen. Donald W. Gilbert from Saginaw was the only Republican which voted for super-fortification. The other seven votes were cast by Senate Democrats. The eighth Democrat was not present.

An $80 million bonus for Korean veterans will be decided by Michigan voters at the fall election. Both chambers of the legislature passed resolutions which will put the question on the ballot.

There was virtually no dissention in the Legislature. In the House only two voted against the proposal: Representatives Lewis G. Christman, Ann Arbor, and Eugene C. Betz, Monroe. In the Senate there were also two negative votes: by Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings, Holland, and Sen. Donald W. Gilbert, Saginaw. All four are Republicans.

• • •

"Where is it going to end?" asked Rep. Christman. He prefers to set some money aside for veterans who have emergency needs. Rep. Betz opposed the bill because he thought the voters should know where the money to pay the bonus is coming from. Sen. Geerlings believes that the payment of bonuses for military service can no longer be justified because present world conditions indicate that Michigan men will be serving for many years. A bonus to everyone who serves, he thinks, will be impossible. "It was the general opinion that there would be no more fighting after World War II," the Senator explains. "A bonus then didn't seem to be the permanent thing that a bonus under today's conditions does."

• • •

Little inclination was shown by Legislators to debate their bonus. This is a campaign year and the general feeling exists among lawmakers that the bonus issue is nothing to wrangle about -- "Let the voters decide."

• • •

This proposal pays a top of $500 to a service man. To be eligible, a veteran must have served in the armed forces from June 27, 1950, to December 31, 1953. He will be paid $15 for each month of overseas duty; $10 for each month of duty inside the U. S. Bonuses are expected to average about $270 per veteran.

City Manager to rent a street sweeper from the R. G. Moeller Company on a trial basis at a rate of $350 per month. The agreement provides that if the city desires to purchase the sweeper before August 1, 1954, the rental fees will be applied toward the purchase price.

A motion was approved authorizing the City Manager to reject the offer of the American Screw Products Company of $15,000 for 15 acres of city-owned land bounded by Nine Mile Road, Gill Road, and the Grand River Cut-Off. The motion also includes the provision that the company be advised that although the Council appreciates their offer, the price per acre had previously been set at not less than $1,500.

Action was taken directing the City Manager and City Engineer to work with the developers of the Bel-Air Subdivision in setting up a plan to expidite the completion of water and sewer interceptors to the subdivision, subject to the approval of the Council. Abe Green, developer, agreed to contribute the sum of $28,000 toward the city's obligation in extending water mains to the subdivision.

this project will be done by the city.

The proposal for the surfacing on Shiawassee calls for a two-inch bituminous concrete road 20 feet in width.

Included in the City Manager's recommendations was an allocation of approximately $17,000 for the leveling and surface treatment of existing streets in the city.

Tennant was authorized to work with the Lake Construction Company in the program. The allocation for the street program has been set at a cost not to exceed $42,000 for the fiscal year July 1, 1954, to June 30, 1955.
