Ask Dr. QUIZMEE ????

Dr. Quizmee, our information specialist, is happy to answer his readers' questions in his weekly column. All responses are verified by Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia.

Today we find Carol K. asking: "When and why was the eagle first used as a national emblem?"

Symbolic use of the eagle dates back at least 5,000 years when the Sumerians chose the "spread eagle" as their symbol of power. The bald eagle, which is distinctly American, became the official emblem of the United States in 1872, typifying strength, freedom and vigilance.

"How deep is the ocean?" is the not-so-simple question from T.J.

The average depth of the oceans of the world is figured at two and one-half miles. But that is far from greatest. One spot in the Pacific is almost three times as deep as that average!

"How did monks get their name?" asks Bob L.

The Greeks had a word, monachos, that meant "solitary" or "alone". A monk is "one who lives alone," and today the word means a member of a religious community.

If you are the first to submit a question to Dr. Quizmee, in care of this newspaper, (the writer of this column to be sole judge), you will receive free the full 25 volume set of Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia.

Burt F. writes: "How can a machine tell if you're lying?"

Lie detectors are designed to indicate changes in blood pressure, rate of breathing, and perspiration in the hands which frequently occur when an outwardly calm person is faced with the need to lie.

Harold S., entering college next year, asks: "What is the oldest college in the United States?"

The answer, by all odds, is Harvard College founded in Cambridge, Mass., in 1636, only a few years after the Pilgrims arrived in the vicinity.

Fred H. asks the next question: "Why is the planet Mars associated with war?"

Mars is a red planet, and it is our association of red with anger, danger and blood that reminds us of war. The planet was named after the Roman god of war.
