Shop, browse studios during pottery weekend

Take a peek into the studios of more than a dozen Oakland County artists next weekend during their annual fall pottery sale and open house.

"It makes me clean up my studio once a year," joked Paddy Skwira of Royal Oak. "It's a fun weekend. It's nice not to have to pick everything up and haul it (to a show). And people love to see the studio."

Skwira creates functional pottery used in cooking, serving and entertaining, and is known for her whimsical decoration.

"We've got probably 10 of us. We all started as pottery students at OCC in Royal Oak. Most of us are functional potters. And it's amazing the range of work you get when you say 'functional.' Clay is such a versatile medium."

All of the participating artists will have maps on hand showing the location of each studio. And there will be posters with photographs of each artist's work. Customers can pick and choose their favorites or visit every studio or home on the map.

"Most everyone also sells some seconds at the home show, which we never would do at other shows. They're priced accordingly. People like a bargain."

A glass artist, Bruce Grauf, will join the pottery event this year, opening his Huntington Woods studio.

Customers also can visit these artists:

■ Tove Bruning of Royal Oak makes functional pottery and jewelry.

■ Mike Stack of Royal Oak makes mostly functional pottery with unusual glazes.

■ Dale Fournier of Royal Oak creates mostly functional pottery.

■ Doug Spaulding of Royal Oak is known for fanciful lamps, among other functional pieces.

■ Diane Hawkey of Royal Oak creates jewelry and decorative items.

■ Priscilla Eggen and Lynne Howes, both of Ferndale, work in white stoneware.

■ Marcin Hovland creates tiles and jewelry in her Royal Oak studio.

■ Carole Burhost of Bloomfield Hills gives her pottery a contemporary spin.

■ Nancy Stockmann of Bloomfield Hills creates pottery with unusual glazes. "Nancy's pots are exceptional," Skwira noted.

In addition to her fanciful pots, Skwira also sells functional pieces decorated in yellow and blue designs, inspired by French country decor. Her elegant floral-on-white designed pots are suitable for more formal use. All are safe for use in the oven, microwave and dishwasher and are lead-free.

Skwira said some customers visit the Royal Oak artists and then lunch in downtown Royal Oak before heading to the other studios.

Her studio will be open from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 22 and 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 23. Hawkey and Spaulding will open their home on Saturday only. Show hours may vary slightly at the other studios.

Skwira's home studio is located at 2013 Rosseland, north of 12 Mile and east of Woodward.

Hovland's business and studio is at 210 West 11 Mile, Royal Oak. (248) 398-2951.

Pick up a map with addresses of the other artists at either location.
