 departments, according to Karon. Birmingham has a 43-member department, all full-time. "Farmington Hills has 33 square miles and a population of 59,000," said Karon. "It's going to be exciting to develop and expand that fire protection as the community continues to grow."

IN ANNOUNCING Karon's resignation at Monday's City Commission meeting, Birmingham City Manager Robert Kenning described him as "an extremely valuable employee."

"It will be very difficult for a new assistant chief to measure up to the standards which Karon has set," Kenning said.

"I have never known a man more dedicated," said Mayor Jack Sigler.
