Sunday—well I wassent so well today. I dont no weather it is on acct. of my busted ear or not but ma had the dr. here to see me and he just ast me where did I feel the wirst and I sed in skool. I kinda think he winked at pa. enny ways he diddent hold out no hope of me a missing skool tomorro.

Munday—well it looks like spring was here. but skool hangs on. They is a st. Carnival in town up on the Commons. Tonite we went down and I seen Jane. She hassent rot very good Judgemint about finanshal matters as she went and paved a dime to get into a Side show after I had shone her a hole in the tent.

Tesuday—They is a woman cum to town and started up in the Undertakeing bisness. Ant Emmy sed she guest a woman cud do enny thing the men can do.. Pa sed Well yes Xcept raze a beard and keep a sekrit and scratch matches and etc.

Wensday—Bout got in trubble at skool today. Blisters and me was a discusting sum plans for are Base ball teem this summer and all of a suddent the teecher slammed her ruler down on her desk and looks at me andsed. I hope I dont hear you tawking. I looks her strate in the eyes and sed. I hope you dont to. And I got by with it. So fur.

Thirsday—They are trying to get pa to join up with the Golf club so tonite ma sed she wood give him a few lessons in Bridge so he cud join the golf Club. Pa didn't seam to see the konection. But he bridged tho.

TRAFFIC TUNNELS AND RULES FOR BIRDS AND ANIMALS—WHO'LL DO IT?

"How does a chicken cross the road?"

Through intermittent tiled tunnels," someone answers emphatically. And behind the chicken would follow the pheasant, the muskrat, the squirrel, the bear, the moose, and all the rest of the category of Michigan's wild life.

The problem of preventing the slaughter of birds and animals that indiscreetly cross the road oblivious of motor traffic, has always faced the Department of Conservation but apparently nothing could be done about it. Birds and animals are notoriously indifferent to signs and warnings, and the sound of an automobile motor or horn is often like the voice of a siren.

Now among its suggestions for proposed legislation, the Department of Conservation has a letter outlining a scheme which the author is confident will solve the problem.

At regular intervals crossing beneath the highways should be constructed tunnels of tile, the letter suggests. These tunnels would provide safe passage for birds and animals from one side of the road to the other. This is the general plan. The letter leaves the Department to work out the details; to instruct the birds and animals in the proper use of the tunnels and to organize and enforce tunnel traffic rules.

TO BAN 26,000 UNFIT CARS FROM MICHIGAN

Twenty-six thousand unfit automobiles will be removed from Michigan highways during the coming year under the national Highway Safety Plan which is being undertaken by various companies in the automobile industry, as announced by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The program will involve the expenditure of close to $1,000,000 in this state. Nationally, the motor companies plan to scrap 400,000 old automobiles in 1930, at a cost of about $15,000,000.

A recent statement declares: "The rattle-trap car is only one factor in the accident difficulty. Unsafe, incompetent, and reckless drivers, as well as reckless pedestrians, cause a large proportion of the accidents. Blind curves and other highway defects are also to blame. The industry hopes however, that this drive for the extermination of unsafe cars will set a standard of action which will be helpful to the entire situation."

NEW DORM TO OPEN

Mosher-Jordan Halls, the University of Michigan's new dormitory for women, will be ready for occupancy with the opening of the fall term of the University this year. This great building which will house 450 girls, is named in honor of Dr. Eliza M. Mosher, the University's first Dean of Women, and Mrs. Myra B. Jordan, the second Dean, who, after several years travel has returned to Ann Arbor and is serving in an advisory capacity once more.
