First Chinese Subscriber's Name Still in San Francisco Directory

San Francisco's present telephone directory contains the name of the first Chinese telephone subscriber in the world. And the name, Quong Lee, remains in the book as it was originally listed 55 years ago.

Quong died in 1918, but his grandchildren, Yochow Chan and T. H. Wong, are now carrying on his business under the same name in the same location. Quong's full name was Chan Quong. He put his store down in the city's first telephone directory of 1878 as "Quong Lee," meaning "Quong, out for business."

In 1878 the telephone was only two years old, and wires were nailed in a sketchy sort of way to store and residence roofs in San Francisco for the world's third telephone exchange

Chan Quong, who as a lad of 16 came to San Francisco in the gold rush days, immediately saw the value of being able, without leaving his store, to talk to social and business friends blocks and miles away.

He ordered a telephone, and little suspected that he would be famed as the first Chinese subscriber anywhere.

From that pioneer Chinese subscriber has grown Chinatown's present several thousand subscribers, served from one of the most noted central offices in the world.

But among the thousands of Chinese telephone users in Chinatown, in the United States, and in China and elsewhere, Quong Lee was the "Daddy" of them all.

COW ON TEST SHOWS NEED OF SUMMER GRAIN

For several years dairy authorities have expressed the opinion that cow owners could not rely on pasture alone for milk and make money in the long run by doing it. For a long time this was largely theory, but real evidence has been obtained to settle the question.

For two whole years several cows were under observation at the Larro Research Farm, Redford, Michigan, where the comparative value of grain and pasture was tested out.

The record of cow No. 76 is typical of the results obtained. She is an ordinary grade Holstein, a pretty good producer and as good a cow as could have been chosen for such an experiment.

Throughout one whole lactation this cow was kept on a grain ration, with absolutely no pasture. She produced as high as 37 lbs. per day, and kept up a good, even milk flow, averaging 31 lbs. per day throughout the milking period.

At the end of this lactation, cow No. 76 showed an entirely normal decline in milk production. She was in splendid condition as the result of her year-round grain ration, and gave evidence of this fact by starting off her next lactation by producing up to 45 lbs. of milk per day—8 lbs. higher than her performance in the preceding year.

On May 16, this cow went on pasture. For ten days her milk production moved up, but after the first stimulus of the grass tonic wore off, she fell steadily in milk as her grain ration was reduced.

Two months after she went on pasture, when she was getting only 2 lbs. of grain per day, she had fallen from 40 lbs. of milk per day to 22½ lbs. This was true though pasture was plentiful and good. She simply was not getting sufficient nourishment of the right kind, and her milk yield was cut practically in half.

More than this, cow No. 76 lost seriously in condition, and she was not able to get back to her former level of the previous year, even though she was on grain steadily after the pasture season.

No dairyman could ask for more convincing proof that reliance on grass alone is costly, and that a regular grain ration, with pasture throughout the summer, pays real dividends in milk production.

"Cross Country Cruise" At Northville House

Amreica's great ocean-to-ocean expanse with its ribbon of roadways as a locale forms the theme for Universal's "Cross Country Cruise" starring Lew Ayres with June Knight, Alice White and Alan Dinehart, at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Northville Saturday, June 23.

It is a story of mile-a-minute action abroad a transcontinental bus plying between New York and San Francisco.

Produced in a unique manner, the story deals, principally, with the lives of five travellers. Norman, a rich play-boy; Sue, a beautiful passenger; Steve, his suspicious wife Nita, and May, a chorine. How Sue eventually "gets her man," and, how Norman clears Sue in the tragic death of Nita and rescues his love from certain doom at the hands of the despicable Steve is logically revealed.

Real backgrounds of an army post enhance the action, romance and humor of "Keep 'Em Rolling," RKO-Radio's picturization of the Saturday Evening Post story "Rodney," featuring Walter Huston and Frances Dee at Northville playhouse Wednesday, June 27.

"Keep 'Em Rolling," was filmed on location at Fort Myer, Virginia, here the War Department detailed Colonel Kenyon A. Joyce a supervise the participation of the 16th Field Artillery and 3rd Cavalry regiments in the picture.

Algiers in Two Parts

Algiers, the capital of the French Province of Algeria, was from the Fourteenth century to the Nineteenth the headquarters of the Barbary pirates, who were the terror of the seas dtill 1830. They exacted toll from ships of all nations, not only cargo and gold, but human beings. These pirates are credited with having captured 8,000 ships and 600,000 Christians. The city is composed of two parts—French Algiers, as gay and modern as Paris itself, and the contrasting Arab quarter with its tall, windowless houses and narrow, congested streets.

Lightning Claims Few Victims

Lightning, though it can be so terrible, claims relatively few victims. A scientist once calculated that in one town alone, dysentery had killed twice as many people in a week as lightning had done in 50 years.

Hot Water for Health and Comfort with an

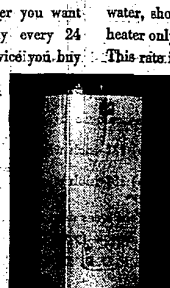
ELECTRIC

HOT WATER HEATER!

SUMMER weather brings a demand for cooling and refreshing baths, for invigorating showers, for countless uses throughout the day. Have you ever known the unequalled comfort of an abundant supply of hot water, definite in quantity, day and night, ready when you wanted it?

Here is something new: Decide how many gallons of hot water you want available for your family every 24 hours. With this new service you buy a measured quantity of hot water each day, available day and night, and you need only pay for that amount.

The low rate for this service is possible through the use of a specially designed heater which stores the hot water during the night hours.



The new low rate now offered for electric water heating is a flat annual rate for year round service, which permits you to enjoy electric hot water for as little as 8c a day (40 gallons). Sixty gallons of hot water cost 10c a day, and eighty gallons 12c a day. Under this new arrangement, you may also obtain a seasonal rate for electric hot water, should you desire to use the heater only during the summer months. This rate is slightly higher—about 11c a day for 40 gallons, 13c a day for 60 gallons, and 16c a day for 80 gallons.

You may buy or rent an electric water heater, whichever you choose. Rental rates for heaters are low, and if you prefer to buy the heater, convenient monthly terms may be arranged.
