With the return of the 43rd Infantry Division, Corporal Ernest Klocke is once again on American soil. Corporal Klocke embarked for overseas duty in June, 1943. He began his acquaintance with the enemy at Guadalcanal by seeing the ship from which he had just debarked go down, victim of an aerial torpedo. As a member of the famous 82nd Chemical Mortar Battalion he started his personal combat experiences with the 43rd and 25th Infantry Divisions in the "Munda Campaign." He went all the way "up the line," via Bougainville, New Britain, and Luzon, to Japan proper. Throughout this time the 4.2" mortars gave strong, close in support to the doughboys of the 37th, Americal, 40th, 38th and 6th Divisions, as directed by the 14th and 11th Corps and the 6th and 8th Armies. Corporal Klocke served as a member of the Occupation Troops on the Island of Honshu and has the pleasure of coming home with his oldest combat friends, the 43rd Winged Victory Division.

Major Robert L. Button, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Button of Twelve Mile Road, who for the past four and a half years has served in the Army Ground Forces has returned to civilian life. He will return to Farmington before resuming his civilian occupation. During his service he saw England and France, and was in combat with the tank destroyers in Belgium, Holland and Germany.

—V—

Robert J. Wisbart, 22, storekeeper, third class, USNR, 23674 Miller Road, Farmington, serving on the USS San Francisco in Admiral Kincaid's powerful 7th Fleet, helped support the landings of American occupation troops in Korea. The San Francisco took part in 17 major actions from Pearl Harbor to Tokyo. She sank or helped sink nine Jap warships and shot down 13 planes. At Guadalcanal, she sustained 45 hits, 15 of major caliber, but remained afloat.

Technical Sergeant Herman "Eddie" Maas, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Maas of Plymouth Road, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service while serving with the Ninth Air Force in Europe. As Machine Shop Chief, he directed and supervised the activities of his Repair Squadron, with exceptional effectiveness. It was of vital importance that uninterrupted maintenance of aircraft be afforded tactical squadrons performing priority missions.

Through his high degree of technical skill, initiative and steadfast devotion to duty, he established and maintained a machine shop that accomplished outstanding work and added to the service efficiency of his squadron.

Sergeant Maas enlisted in November, 1942, and served 26 months in the European Theatre. He is home now on a 45-day furlough and expects to be discharged upon return to Camp Grant in Illinois.

—V—

Pfc. William J. Dallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dallas, 29908 W. Six Mile Road, was honorably discharged recently from the Army Air Forces after more than 2½ years of military service. Pfc Dallas served 17 months overseas with the 453rd Bomb Group, stationed at England. For his military service he wears the ETO ribbon with six battle stars. Prior to entering the armed forces he was employed by the Ford Willow Run plant in Ypsilanti, Michigan. He attended Redford High School.

—V—

Warren W. Werschin, ACMM, 21715 Waldron, is now at home with his family, having recently been discharged from the United States Navy.

—V—

Lester J. Canfield, S 2/c, 20314 Hugh Street, has returned home with his discharge from the United States Navy.

—V—

Marion Hudkins, Jr., 24, formerly BM 1/c in the U.S. Coast Guard, has been released from the service and is returning to Farmington as a civilian to take up residence at 21501 Hamilton Street. He has concluded 34 months of service in the Coast Guard, having been on duty in the North American, European and African Theatres of War. His wife, Annette Hudkins, lives at the Hamilton Street address.

—V—

Joseph R. Allen, S 1/c, 19125 Antago, and Ernest G. Smith, S 1/c, 22160 Hawthorne Street, have been released from naval service at the Personnel Separation Center at Great Lakes Illinois.

Dear Sirs:

I haven't been getting the Enterprise for the past six months—it probably got lost as I was moving around quite a bit, so I'll send you my new and I hope permanent address, until I get home.

I miss the paper as it gives the dope on where the fellows are, and also the things that happen in dear old Farmington.

I hope it won't be too much bother to change the address. Thanks.

Yours sincerely,
Cpl. William J. Owens.

"SPOOK SPREE" HAILED AS HUGE SUCCESS

The spirit of leering jack-o-lanterns, grinning goblins and rollicking fun prevailed at the school gymnasium on Hallowe'en night when approximately 160 boys inaugurated their first, "Spook Spree."

Everyone, from little tots to sedate Seniors shouted their approval at the variety of tricks that popped out of the magic program bag.

The little ones ushered in the program with a Mickey Mouse show, and spook parade in which prizes were given for the best, funniest, wierdest and most unusual costumes. Then they presented crowns to the King and Queen of Hallowe'en.

The Junior High boys ran a running and basketball relay, followed by a terrific tug-of-war between the beef boys, whose grunting and groaning chased the gremlins and goblins into the far corners of the gym. Then the boxers and wrestlers took the floor to thump and whack each other so effectively that the rafters groaned and the dust of battle rose high.

Two teams of older boys played a fast game of basketball and at the half the Farmington Male Chorus made a surprise appearance and sang "Kentucky Babe" and the novelty number, "Old Man Noah."

By this time the high spirit of the boys had so frightened the spooks of Hallowe'en that the goblins and witches, and even the black cat fled in despair.

To climax the evening the boys adjourned to the cafeteria to gobble doughnuts washed down with sparkling witch brew that flowed unceasingly from the tall cider keg.

"Big Spook" Bob Chesley, as master of ceremonies, did a fine job of enchanting the audience, and much credit is due Matt Erwin who prepared the magic bag of entertainment. Other "Spooks" who made the "Spree" a success were Harold Turney, refreshments; Bill Blight, decorations; Jack Brown, grade school program and Bob Morene, clean up.

The magic men were all pleased with the large turn out of boys, and hope to make the Spook Spree an annual affair.

Better Dyeing.

If you are making use of feed and fertilizer sacks for garments that require dyeing, complete the garment first and dye the finished product. Results will be more satisfactory, and you will get the most from your dye.
