Word Processing

Experts estimate the Word Processing Industry will explode to 8.5 billion by 1980. Wang Laboratories, a major force in both Marketing/Service and research and development expects to be in an even stronger position in the months ahead. You could be part of this tremendous growth in field service as a technician or in field service management.

If you have "electric typewriter" experience already, and are interested in becoming one of 200 selected across the country, instead of one of 200,000 ... and if you have a sincere interest in getting ahead in management in a short period of time, instead of "after 15 years of faithful service" ... we are interested in you. We're building fast, and we need people who want to do the job.

Send your resume of experience and education to us or call:
