At Home in Old Homestead

Jacqueline Davis GR. 4-1230

All birthdays celebrated this week were done so quietly. Friday was the ninth birthday of James Klaf, and the eleventh birthday of Dale Adcock. In both cases the party dinners were for the immediate family only. Wednesday found Brenda Simmons recovering from the measles on her seventh birthday. This alone rather subdued any festivities.

Saturday started a very busy weekend at the Wiedman home. Seven year old Janie spent the two days as a house guest at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. James O'Neill, in Detroit. Bing, Doris, Peggy, Tim, Mark, and Mary Sue drove to Dowagiac to visit Bing's mother. They returned home late Sunday evening with the exception of Peggy, who boarded a train in Dowagiac on Saturday for Minnespolis. She will visit relatives there and in St. Paul before going on to Duluth to visit her grandparents. Peggy is expected home the Tuesday following Easter Sunday.

IN ADDITION to the above Chuck and Bill remained at home with Doris' Aunt Trude and her guests Miss Mary and Miss Emma Jo Forgette of Detroit. The Misses Forgette plan to return to their home on Wednesday.

The Appleseeds Square Dance on Saturday found twelve couples in attendance at the home of Dick and Jean Latimer. The hostesses for the pleasant evening were Marguerite Dale, Betty Gazvoda, and Kay Humm. The next Square Dance will be held on Saturday, May 14.

Ken and Kay Humm's daughter, Sherry, is recovering from a severe sprain of the right index finger.

Although our roads seem to be recovering from their unusual ease of spring mud they are still a topic of much conversation in Old Homestead. In the past two weeks the home of Betty and Bob Bohme on Eleven Mile Road has turned into a sort of rescue station for stuck motorists. Although they did not keep any records they estimate that approximately forty people have used their home to call for towing service during that time. The victims of the mud have asked for help as early as 6:00 a.m. and as late as midnight.

Along with the residents of Old Homestead there have been milkmen, deliverymen, and telephone repairmen among the victims. On Sunday the Farmington Fire Department joined the list while on their way to fight a grass fire burning in the field between the subdivision and Halsted Rd. Whether it was this or merely the improved weather conditions one cannot guess, but early Monday morning trucks and a road grader appeared to work on Drake Rd., Eleven Mile, and Howard Rds. We have high hopes that this is a sign that better road conditions are in the future.

They finished the job even faster than he had hoped for. And there was plenty of work to be done, too.

Awarded Prize at Cancer Luncheon

Mrs. William Bierley, 28971 Quail Hollow Court, Farmington, was one of the lucky prize winners at a recent luncheon and fashion show launching the Michigan Cancer Foundation's April crusade.

More than 1,000 volunteers attended the program. Speakers included Ben D. Mills, the Crusades general chairman; Detroit Councilwoman, Mary Beck, and President Ray Eppert President of Burroughs Corporation.

Theme of the program was the encouragement of all adults to have periodic cancer check-ups by their personal physician.

Cunningham's St. Mary
Meet Your Merchants

Frank St. Mary, manager of the Cunningham store in the Farmington Plaza, is a real veteran in the Cunningham chain. Frank has been with the company 28 years, 24 as a manager.

Pharmacy became interesting to Frank at an early age in his home town of Caro, Michigan. He started working for the local druggist there on Saturdays and after school, and from this experience, he had pretty well made up his mind that he would become a druggist.

In 1917 he was called into the army and assigned to the medical installation at Ft. Oglethorpe, Georgia. His work there involved handling medicines and drugs and Frank became definitely sold on the idea of becoming a pharmacist.

Following his separation from service, he entered Valparaiso College in Indiana and later finished his curriculum at the Warner School of Pharmacy in Sandusky, Mich. He became a registered pharmacist in 1921.

WHILE studying in Sandusky, St. Mary found time to do a little courting. It was there that he met the future Mrs. St. Mary (Mette). The St. Mary's have one son, Frank, Jr. and a 7 year old granddaughter.

Shortly after their marriage, Frank and Mette moved to Flint where Frank got underway in his career with a 7-store chain. The chain eventually sold out to the larger Liggett chain and Frank stayed on until the depression when the Liggett firm went out of business.

The St. Mary's moved to Detroit and Frank began his long association with Cunningham's in 1931 as assistant manager of the Griswold-Michigan store. In 1953 he was named manager of the Vernor-Springwells store where he stayed 11 years.

Frank spent six years as manager of the Southfield-Joy unit and then was assigned to manage the huge Northland store which was just opening at the time. He stayed there about six years and a little over a year ago replaced Earl Hill as manager of the Farmington Store. Hill now serves as manager of the 7 Mile-Grand River unit.

FRANK'S spare time is limited but when he does get some leisure time he usually goes fishing. His angling efforts were rewarded last year when he caught a 42"-18 lb. Muskie in Lake St. Clair. It took 45 minutes to land this whopper but it was really a thrill, Frank said, when he finally had him safely in the boat.

Frank is a member of the Cunningham's American Legion Post 520 as well as a member of the Cunningham's Managers Club. He recently served on the Cunningham committee that formulated a new price structure on drugs in accordance with the company's recent policy to drop drug prices considerably.

Frank is very optimistic about business prospects here in Farmington as well as in the entire state. He said the Cunninghams people are anticipating a record business year and have stocked their warehouse accordingly.

He feels Farmington is just beginning to grow and is especially interested in the proposed downtown development program which he thinks will be a boon to business both in the downtown district and the surrounding area including the Plaza.

FRANK ST. MARY, manager of the Farmington Cunningham Store, is shown in the process of filling a prescription, something he has been doing for some 38 years now.

Clarenceville To Have Science Fair April 22

The annual Clarenceville Science Fair will be held Friday, April 22 from 7:10 p.m. in rooms 107, 127, and 128 in the Clarenceville High School.

Students in Biology, Chemistry, and Physics classes will display their projects. These projects will be judged by science teachers, professional scientists and engineers. Awards will be given for first, second, and third places. Honorable mentions will be given to two projects in each catagory.

Actual demonstrations will be given at the Fair. An open house will give parents and friends an opportunity to visit the new C.H.S. science department and view the facilities.

SOME OF the projects featured at the Fair from the Biology department will be, the stages of development of carrot tumors; mating of fruit flys to test the theory of heridity; blood samples of different animals and their comparison; stages of development of the chicken; growth of plant hormones; bacteria which causes cancer in plants; and colored lights and growth effect on plants.

From the physics department some displayed projects will be measuring the mass of an electron; momentum changes in an explosion; measuring the size of a molecule; electric charges; law of equal areas; and photographs of alpha rays.

From the chmistry department there will be experiments with hard water; electroplating; and titration.

Three years ago the Federal government set up committees of scientists to study the improvements of high school experiments in physics. Some of these recommended experiment will be displayed by students from the physics' class.

CHS Hosts Brighton In Exchange Day

CHS Student Council members were hosts for a council exchange day last Thursday to Brighton.

The visiting Brighton council members spent a complete school day at CHS which included visiting various classes and attending a regular Student Council meeting. At the meeting the following proposals were discussed: A new flag for the school; more mirrors in the girls rest rooms; and a new procedure for next years homecoming ceremony.

Cheerleaders Begin Practice

Twenty-one girls have signed up to start practicing for cheerleading tryouts to be held April 28.

Practice days will be April 11 thru 27, from 3:00 - 4:30, in the gym. The first three days of practice will be devoted to acrobatics and the girls will have Easter vacation to practice them. The last three days will be spent learning the cheers and the jumps.

Requirements for both the varsity and Junior varsity squads will be the cartwheel, roundoff, flip, and splits. This year there will be a trend for simpler cheers and more acrobatic stunts. Also cheerleaders must have a 'C' or better scholastic average.

The teachers who will judge have not as yet been named, but when they are picked, the girls will be watched and judged on how they act in the halls, their neatness, attitude, leadership ability, and sportsmanship not only on the day of tryouts but all the time.

Expenditures on Michigan highways and streets have averaged about 15 per cent of all governmental costs since 1946 compared to 32 per cent in 1925.

Michigan's new expressways have reduced accidents and injuries by more than 70 per cent compared to the old roads they replaced.

Area Women In Cancer Drive

Approximately 100 Farmington area women, volunteer workers for the North Oakland Unit, Michigan Cancer Foundation, are participating this month in the April Crusade. The Crusade is a month-long campaign designed to better acquaint the public with the dangers of cancer, and the importance of frequent physical check-ups for early detection of cancer.

Mrs. Chester Yoranovic, public information chairman for the Farmington branch, said local Crusade activities are being directed by Mrs. Jack L. Gebben branch chairman.

More than 850 women throughout North Oakland county are participating in the educational Crusade, which represents one of the two major phases of activity for Michigan Cancer Foundation. Volunteers also devote many hours to service for cancer patients.

Postpone April 20 AAUW Meeting

The April Meeting of the Farmington Branch, American Association of University Women, scheduled for Wednesday, April 20, will be held on Wednesday, April 27, at 8 p.m. in the Farmington Senior High School.

This meeting is the third in the series of lectures on the arts open to the public. Dr. Thomas Hoult from Wayne State University will speak on the theme "Sociology of Religion".
