Schedule Coordinator Named By Republicans

Republicans are being urged to call GOP Headquarters in Birmingham to list all area activities for the month of October, according to County Chairman Charles L. Lyle.

"We have appointed Paul Spagnuola of 1855 Villa, Birmingham, as our Schedule Coordinator," Lyle said, "and we need the cooperation of all our Republicans to help make the program a success. We are asking them to call our Headquarters with the October schedules of their clubs or any area service club so that we can make contacts for our Republican candidates from the local, county and state levels to visit the meetings," he added.

"This is an important phase of our campaign in that exposure of Republican candidates helps to give the people a better chance to choose the person for whom they will vote on November 6," Lyle concluded.

Spagnuola, 33, a teacher of Civics and World History at Anderson Junior High School in Berkley and member of the GOP Education Committee, can be reached at his home after 3:30 p.m. on weekdays by calling MI 4-0572. Republican Headquarters telephone is listed as 646-8414.

A bulletin board has been hung on the wall of the meeting room at Headquarters and will list all the activities as they are called in.

Class Response By Bus Drivers Good in County

Two or more classes will be necessary to meet the response of Oakland County School bus drivers to the announcement of an Oakland County Board of Education course in first aid.

One class was originally scheduled for the course, which will be held October 10 and October 17. But 81 reservations have been made so far, said County Director of Transportation, Erwin J. Hendershott. He said that additional sections would be added to take care of the demand.

THE COURSE WAS set up initially in response to the demand of school bus drivers. It is entirely voluntary and the drivers will not be reimbursed for their time and expense.

Classes will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. at the County Board of Education offices. Trooper Larry Miller from the Pontiac Post of the Michigan State Police will instruct one section. Other instructors will be named later, Hendershott said.

A repeat course will be offered in March.

JOHNSON McDOWELL

Takes Up Study In Missouri

Johnson George McDowell of Farmington is among 300 cadets from 27 states and four foreign nations who have enrolled for the 74th session of Missouri Military Academy here, according to Col. C. R. Stribling, president. Two hundred fifteen are high school students; 85 are enrolled in the separate M.M.A. Junior School for boys in grades five through eight.

College preparatory scholastic work, an ROTC military program, varsity and intramural athletics for all, and activities ranging from journalism to ham radio are coordinated in Missouri Military's training. Lt. Col. J. S. Gardner, Annapolis graduate and retired Marine officer, has been appointed commandant of cadets.

M.M.A., founded in 1889 by Governor Charles H. Hardin, claims among its distinguished alumni General Clifton Cates, commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps after World War II; Lyle C. Wilson, vice-president of United Press International; and Cody Fowler, president of the Inter-American Bar Association.

In recent years M.M.A. has gained national prominence through televised appearances of its marching band and its crack drill team, the Fusileers, in inaugural parades for John F. Kennedy and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Cadet McDowell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McDowell, 32295 Balfree.

MORE MOTORCYCLES

During the past ten years motorcycle registrations in Michigan have increased 50 percent. According to James M. Hare, Secretary of State, there are now almost 30,000 motorcycles rolling on State Highways compared with 18,764 in 1952. In 1942 there were only 5,634 and a mere 2,998 in 1932.

A SPECIAL FEATURE of the Open House celebration which climaxes Friday at First Federal's new Farmington office is the offer of the "best-selling" Better Homes and Gardens New Cook Book, to be given free with a new savings account opened with $50 or more. The cook book, which is already a favorite of over seven million homemakers, contains recipes in 20 chapters on cooking, with step-by-step photos on meal planning and nutrition, outdoor cooking, table settings and other subjects in a bright, washable cover. It is tab-indexed for easy reference, and ring-bound so recipes can be added.

Timely Tips on GARDENING

By Betty Franker

AUTUMN COLOR

The landscape is glowing with burnished tones of crimson and gold. Trees flaunt their blazing leaves against a soft hued sky. In meadows and along roadsides the lowly weeds and grasses have a golden glow, and asters, goldenrod and clumps of sumac are like the precious amethists, topaz and rubies of an ancient royal crown.

This is the season to seize the fleeting moments of perfection. To ramble through fields and woods enjoying nature's bounty. By October first the color display is at its height in the upper part of the state, and it is fast reaching the peak in this area. Weather conditions have been such that the show should be an unusually good one this year.

Already it is a feast for the eyes. It is fun, too, to be able to spot various trees and shrubs in the distant landscape and identify them by the color of their foliage. Sumac turns a rich, blazing crimson, and the large trees along the roadsides that have already turned deep gold are shag-bark hickories. Red maples are bright scarlet and birch leaves turn clear yellow. Red oaks turn a deep red, and sassafras are rosey orange.

THE GARDENER can capture a bit of autumn glory by planting trees and shrubs whose foliage assumes brilliant tones. The flowering crabs assume a ruddy hue, and red-bud leaves turn bright yellow. Euonymous alatus, the burning bush, has already turned color. It is now a brilliant rosey hue, perhaps the most brilliant of all.

SPECIES TULIPS

Early in Spring, before the May-flowering tulips come into bloom, the species, or wild tulips add spritely charm to the garden scene. These tulips, which are also known as "botanical" tulips, bloom in March, April, and May on stems that are often only a few inches tall. The flowers, are brightly colored, and are comparable in size to the later blooming tall-stemmed tulips.

They prefer a sunny, dry location and are best planted in a sheltered spot where the Spring sun will coax them into earliest bloom. They are hardy, and once established, will bloom for many years. They are suitable for planting in a rock garden or in a planter box, and are lovely planted in groups or clumps at the edge of the flower border or in front of shrubbery.

A CHARMING VARIETY is the lady tulip, tulipa clusiana, whose flowers have white and rose-red stripes. T. biflora is an early variety with flowers of pale and deep yellow. T. Kaufmanniana combines cream and red in its petals. Hybrids of this variety are known as water-lily tulips are available. All bloom early. The stems are short and the petals are wide-spreading.

Tulipa Fosteriana has chinese red flowers on twelve inch stems in April. Many popular hybrids have been developed from this species. One of these is the Red Emperor tulip that has become one of the most popular of present-day tulips. Its huge red blooms can be seen brightening many local gardens in April. Recently white and yellow Emperor tulips have also been developed.

Species tulips should be planted during October. Cover the bulbs with about four inches of soil - a little more if the soil is light and sandy, and a little less if it is heavy soil. Set the bulbs about six inches apart. If an under-planting of other Spring flowers is to accompany the tulips, place the bulbs about nine inches apart. They make a charming picture when combined with pansies, forget-me-nots, or primroses.

REMINDERS

Finish planting evergreens. It is still not too late to plant or divide perennials . . . Seed and repair the lawn.

We have some catching up to do on the activities of the Claude Mills family. On September 6, Colleen Mills celebrated her sixth birthday with a family dinner. Besides her mother and father and brother Wayne, Colleen had as her guests her grandmother Green and her Godfather Tom Velky.

On September 18 Claude and Carolyn Mills celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary. They went to the new Terrace Theatre to see the Music Man and thought the theatre was beautiful.

THERE IS A NEW canine member of our community. The Joe Ripards have a Dalmatian puppy, ten weeks old, whom they have named Duchess.

Bill and Marilyn DeHaan with their children, Dave, Steve and Nancy, took to the highways again last Friday to go to Grand Rapids. They enjoyed a reunion with the other members of the DeHaan family at Bill's Mother's cottage on Lake Michigan and returned to Gary Drive on Sunday evening.

More weekend travelers left on last Friday. Pat and Gene Hill drove with friends to Langhorne, Pennsylvania for a visit with Pat's mother and to join other friends for a high school class reunion. They returned Sunday night after a very pleasant weekend.

We want to wish Dan Hickey a belated Happy Birthday. Dan celebrated his day with a family dinner last Sunday.

Michigan Bell Speaker Slated

How effective communications can help in YWCA work will be discussed by Jack M. Carter, information manager, Michigan Bell Telephone Co., at a volunteer staff seminar Oct. 8 at Central Branch YW, 2230 Witherell St.

"Person to Person" is the theme of the meeting which is expected to draw all members of the YWCA Metropolitan Board of Directors, of the boards of management of the seven YW branches, and members of all YWCA committees.

A 6:30 supper will precede the program which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Information manager of Michigan Bell since 1960, Mr. Carter was for five years head of the department of speech at Louisiana College, Pineville, La., and for two years was on the faculty of Michigan State University as instructor in public address and director of debate.

Olds Holds the Line in 1963 On All Factory-List Prices

Factory-list prices for the 1963 Oldsmobiles have not been increased, it was announced by J. F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile's general manager and a vice president of General Motors.

"I am pleased," Wolfram said, "that while we have been able to give our customers many added product values, Oldsmobile price levels have remained the same for five consecutive years."

ON 1963 MODELS, certain equipment items which were formerly extra - cost options have been made standard at no increase in price. These include the positive crankcase ventilation system and permanent type year around engine coolant (anti-freeze) on all models, and windshield washers and the two speed wipers on the Jetfire in the F-85 Series.

"All 1963 Oldsmobiles — F-85s, 88s, 98s and Starfires — have been totally restyled," Wofram said. The individuality of each series is more impressively apparent and numerous design and mechanical improvements have been made to further contribute to the customer's comfort, safety and convenience. For example the new cars will be equipped with a Delcotron generator which improves charging at idle speeds, thus prolonging battery life. In addition, all cars will have self-adjusting brakes and an improved aluminized exhaust system.

The 1963 Oldsmobile warranty has been significantly improved to cover the product for 24 months or 24,000 miles. This doubles the time and mileage of the previous warranty.

OLDSMOBILE'S 1963 factory-list prices range from $2,193 for the F-85 Club Coupe, to $4,340 for the Starfire convertible.

He also announced prices for the two new models Oldsmobile is introducing this year. The 98 Luxury Sedan, which he described as the "epitome of elegance in a motor car," is listed at $3,948. The new 98 Custom Sports Coupe, combining the sports car flair of bucket seats, power console and Starfire engine with the distinctiveness of 98 series exterior appearance, carries a factory-list price of $3,994.

A tilt-away steering wheel, which lists at $40, is included among the new options and accessories offered on 1963 Oldsmobile models.

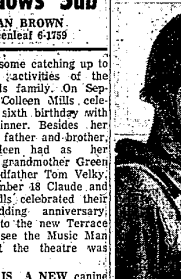
Pancake Feast Planned Oct. 9

Detroit Country Day School's Parents' Association is sponsoring a Pancake Supper and Bake Sale at the school, Thirteen Mile and Lahser Roads, from 5:30 to 8 p.m., Tuesday, October 9.

Menu includes pancakes, sausages, maple syrup, crackers and cheese, and coffee. The "Eat all you can Eat" sign is out, and friends and neighbors far and near, as well as patrons of the school are cordially invited.

In charge of arrangements is Mr. Norman Kreider, 28965 Millbrook Road, Franklin. Music will be furnished by the Country Day Trio.

The only nine-day week of the year will occur October 20 to 28 when "National Automobile Show Week" is celebrated. The Week coincides with the nine-day run of the National Auto Show at Detroit's Cobo Hall and is designed to help all U.S. car dealers with special promotions or displays of new 1963 models in their local areas.



Army Pvt. Daniel P. Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman P. Parsons, 31907 Pembroke, Livonia, recently completed the four-week airborne course at The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga. Parsons received instruction in parachuting and the techniques of air-dropping troops and cargo. The 20-year-old soldier entered the Army in February 1962 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He is a 1961 graduate of Bentley High School in Livonia.

Presbyterian Men Host Businessmen

Waldo Yeager, President of the Cortland Produce Company of Toledo Ohio, and vice chairman of Christian Businessmen Committee International, will be the guest speaker for the men of Ward Memorial Presbyterian Chapel, Six Mile and Farmington Road, at their fellowship dinner, Friday, October 5, at 6:30 p.m. Mr. Yeager will speak at 8 p.m.

Dinner reservations are limited but an open invitation and can be very warm welcome is extended to men who would like to hear Mr. Yeager.

An additional 18 million people from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois have been brought within a day's drive of Northern Michigan — and its uncxcelled tourist attractions — by completion of the state's new north-south freeways.
