

Farmington Socially Speaking

By KATHY ZISKA GR. 4-7261

Men all over Farmington will be sporting the new wide ties — if they are brave enough to wear them — if their wives finally let the projects they start. One program on the art of creating a tie was held at the Community Center and another was the project of the Hobby Club which met at the home of Marge Kustron on Orchard Lake Road.

The fabrics selected for the hand stitched creations in most cases, had a lot of eye appeal. So, just watch the husbands of the following women to see if they are sporting ties created by their mates.

These creative geniuses, directed by Kay Paris, attended the Hobby Club night at the Kustrons: Jo Dreyer, Norma Eckley, Lois Whitaker, Arline Mosher, Betty Anderson, Barbara Karbel, Irene Malich, Mary Lourey, Wanda Guzik, Joan Sarrach, and Peg Buerle.

The Walter Frisch family of Craftsbury Drive owns a pedigree hartequin Great Dane. When it came time to award him with a name, the choice always came back to Duke of Craftsbury and so it is.

MR. AND MRS. Harold Brown of Mayfield recently returned from a three-week trip abroad. The itinerary included London, Amsterdam, Switzerland, Germany, France and Italy.

According to Betty, the highlight of the trip was in Oberammergau, Germany where they saw the Passion Play. The Passion Play is scheduled every 10 years. It is performed from the first of June to the end of September several times a week.

Betty says it's awesome and unexplainable. How can you explain a great scene where there are 1,500 performers on the stage at one time?

In London, by invitation, they attended the famous, private Les Ambassadeurs Club for dinner. The building is the former home of the Rothschilds, the financiers.

GOP Candidates At New Headquarters

Duke of Craftsbury is a year old, has been entered in four shows and awarded a first in each. The most recent was a Great Dane showing where the Great Duke of Craftsbury came in first in two categories and brought home two cups.

Halloween ghosts and goblins have been out doing their tricks early. Doris Helget says that someone, probably in the K-3 area must be missing a flag and flag staff which the Helgets discovered in their shrubs. It's not theirs and they would like to return it to the owner so please call her at 474-7778 if it is your flag.

FARMINGTON Saturday, Oct. 31, the public is invited to meet national, state and local Republican candidates at the new Farmington 1970 GOP campaign headquarters, at Farmington Rd. and Grand River.

Refreshments will be served from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and Farmington Teenage Republicans will provide Halloween fun and favors for the children.

The campaign headquarters will handle voter contact, literature distribution and voter information throughout Farmington city and township.

The office may be telephoned at 474-4344 and will be open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Elsa Harms and Mrs. Ruth Allaben will handle headquarters activity. Both are members of the Republican women's organization of Farmington.

Carl Pursell, candidate for state senator from the 14th District, and State Rep. Raymond Baker will have their campaign offices in the headquarters.

They join Tom McMillan, director of the Republican Committee of Farmington Township, in announcing the headquarters opening.

Praising the many GOP volunteers who give their time to the GOP campaign, McMillan suggests that those who cannot contribute their time use the Key Republican Club envelopes, available at the headquarters, for financial contribution.

Why this sudden great interest on the part of the city. Is it out of the kindness of their hearts they offer to take us over?

Is it their natural good will that makes them want to share

FFA Continues Debate Against Annexation

(This is the first of several articles written by Paul J. Diets on behalf of "Southern Farmington Township Residents Against Annexation." Diets is an attorney and resident of southern Farmington Township.)

Happiness is being wanted. But there are too much of all good things. It appears that Farmington Township residents living below 10 Mile Rd. are about to be smothered by love and affection from the City of Farmington.

On Nov. 3 you will be asked to vote for or against the City of Farmington taking over all township land (annexation) below 10 Mile Rd., to expand the city to five times its present size.

Fortunately only those township residents living below 10 Mile, in the area affected, can vote on this matter.

Why this sudden great interest on the part of the city. Is it out of the kindness of their hearts they offer to take us over?

Is it their natural good will that makes them want to share

(Following is the second in a series of articles prepared by the Future Farmington Association (FFA) providing an argument on why voters should defeat the proposed annexation of the southern half of Farmington Township to the City of Farmington on Nov. 3.)

really need us, but would love to have us.

You know this land grab by the city is not really as mysterious as all that when you consider what has been happening in the last few years in the Farmington area.

FOR A LONG TIME now the city has found it quite easy to sit back and pick off the choice morsels of the township as they desired. As long as the township did not get off its seat and protect its boundaries by incorporation, the city could plunder at its leisure.

But suddenly the political favor of the township has changed. We first saw this last spring when the majority of township residents voted for consolidating, but were rejected by the city.

Township residents indicated by this vote a desire to protect their boundaries and to act as a community which was to be reckoned with.

Next, we saw a primary in August in which partisan politics was down played and the aim was finding qualified candidates.

their good fortune with us in the township?

Is it sympathy for the poor, downtrodden neighbors in the township who don't have all the prestige and services of the city?

DO YOU REMEMBER how last spring, when we voted on the question of all the township joining with the city by consolidation, the city councilmen and other officials rejected us?

Do you recall how they said they wanted to preserve the beautiful and rural setting of downtown Farmington? They said they liked being small in size and in thinking, and feared being big and complicated?

They were content to live happily ever after all by themselves. Now why do you suppose, a few months later, they are falling all over themselves explaining how they don't

WITH THE UNOPPOSED nomination of Earl Teeplees for township supervisor, the city knew their leisurely game of annexation was over. Here was a proposed township supervisor who will provide strong leadership.

The township will no longer sit by while its land is stolen. The sleeping giant of Farmington Township is awake and flexing its muscles.

But the city wants one last land grab. And their philosophy appears to be that if you're going to steal, you might as well steal big.

The City of Farmington, just a little over two and a half square miles, is almost fully developed. There is no room for future development and much of the city is old and deteriorating.

For this reason, it is important that the city have future areas for development in order to provide tax revenue.

We, the residents of southern Farmington Township, are being told by the city that they are doing us a favor.

Let's tell them on Nov. 3 "thanks, but no thanks," by voting NO on annexation.

(Next issue, "Southern Farmington Township Residents Against Annexation" will discuss why the city has nothing to offer township residents.)

Township Hall To Get Sewers

FARMINGTON Authorization has been given for Farmington Township Hall to tap into sanitary sewer service and disconnect from existing septic tanks.

The township hall is now serviced by a septic field which is located south of the hall. The heavy ground becomes easily saturated and septic became overloaded after township offices moved into the new civic center.

AT ITS LAST meeting, the township board gave permission for a sewer line to be extended to the hall from a sanitary trunkline now under construction in Springland subdivision.

The contractor doing the Springland work submitted a bid of $41,365 to extend a sewer line to the township hall and to the trailer park on Orchard Lake immediately south of 11 Mile.

The trailer park had been condemned by the county health department because the mobile homes were hooked up to inadequate septic tanks.

TOWNSHIP CLERK Floyd Cairns says the township should be able to recoup some of the $41,000 from the trailer park once the park hooks into the extended sanitary line.

Engineers had estimated the cost of the extension at $56,000, said Cairns.

Motion to accept the bid and authorize the township engineers to draft a contract was made by Thomas Nolan, supported by Mrs. Margaret Schaeffer and passed 5-0.
