Light in Egyptian Tombs
Egyptian darkness of centuries will soon be banished from the intact tomb of Egyptian royalty discovered last year near the Cheops pyramid, at Gizeh, by the Harvard-Boston expedition. A 4,000-candle-power lighting system will light the work of exploration and photography.

Prevents Steaming
If you wear glasses and your position is such that you are in and out of various offices during the day, you will be glad to know that if your glasses are wiped off with petroleum ointment and cleaned well each morning, you will not be annoyed when calling on a customer by having him disappear from your vision at your first greeting.

An English scientist has constructed an apparatus for measuring the power of a glance. The device consists of a sealed glass cage in which is suspended a spool of thread, the ends of which form a short circuit. Above the spool is a dial. It is reported that the glance of an actress—name not given—recently moved the needle on the dial through a 60-degree arc of exchange.

BRICK BLOCK FOR WESTMORE SUBDIVISION

George Gullen of Detroit, a member of the real estate firm of Gullen & Gullen, who are extensively interested in subdivision property in this locality, has let a contract for the erection of a business block at Westmore subdivision, corner of Westmore avenue and the Seven Mile road, with three stores on the ground floor, offices and flats on the second floor. The building is to be of brick construction, modern in every way.

With the construction of a new school building adjoining the property and several residences under way, Westmore presents a lively appearance. This subdivision is located two miles south of Farmington.

YOUNG JUSTICES: FARMINGTON HAS ONE

Since the spring election of last April newspapers in various sections of the state have been making a great ado about young people of 24, 25 and 26 years of age who have been elected to administer justice in their respective municipalities. Farmington township can come back at them one better. Charles L. Wilson, who was elected to that office recently to fill a vacancy is but 23 years of age and is now dispensing justice at the usual fees at his office here. He has put in several years in the study of law and has gained business experience which fits him admirably for the responsibilities of that office. By virtue of his office he will become a member of the township board on July 4.

Old-Time Prescription
