THE RATTLE SNAKE AND THE THUG

A rattle snake is dealt with summarily and effectively put out of the way by man whenever an opportunity presents itself.

The human snake is coddled by a mushy element of society; judges bend backward in attempting to strike an attitude of exact justice; facts are buried under an avalanche of technicalities and precedents.

CLEARING LAND TITLES

With an increasing demand for acreage in this locality at prices that reach up into four figures per acre has come considerable activity in the chancery courts in the work of clearing up titles.

Scarcely a deal is made for a transfer of the title, but that some flaw is discovered in the chain of title.

These flaws are usually trivial and constitute no valid claim against the property. They are in a majority due to carelessness on the part of parties at a time in the past when comparatively little importance was attached to the matter of detail in the executing and recording of legal documents.

In nearly every case of an un-discharged, old mortgage the statute of limitation is now operative and the mortgage is void.

GRAND RIVER AND WOODWARD IMPROVEMENTS

The Redford Record speaks joyously of an early prospect for the completion of the south side stretch of paving on Grand River avenue in that city from the western limits to the business section.

Every little helps, but very little is being done in improving the condition of the roadway on Grand River between Redford and Farmington.

There is no such urgent need of improvement between Royal Oak and Birmingham as between Redford and Farmington, except that a certain dignitary will have more use after January 1 for Woodward avenue than Grand River avenue.

WHO SAID OIL SHORTAGE?

Mining experts estimate that only from one-third to one-ninth of the oil in the ground is extracted from even the best pools, under the present system of oil pumping; the remainder stays where it is.

Oil companies have already done wonders, in procuring constantly increasing amounts of gasoline out of every barrel of crude oil.

When the jury is hung, the prisoner isn't.

"TIP-TOES" AT THE NEW DETROIT OPERA HOUSE!

At the New Detroit Opera House, for one week only commencing Sunday night, October 3, Aarons and Freedley, the youngest and most successful producing firm in this country, will be remembered by their exquisite production next season of "Laddy Be Good!"

At the Winter Garden, London "Tip-Toes" has duplicated the New York triumph with Detroit, New York, Allen Keane and Laddie Dickson, Allen Keane and Laddie Dickson, Allen Keane and Laddie Dickson.

FORM STATE POULTRY IMPROVEMENT GROUP

A poultry record of production association, intended to provide a means of securing official production records on a basis of the state, was organized recently during a meeting of the state Poultry Improvement Association held at M. S. C.

THE PEDDLER

The days when the "Frost is on the pumpkin" will soon be with us; the mellow October days when the final harvests of the year are being garnered on the farms, whose evenings are occupied by the husbandman who sits down to total up the tribute Mother Earth has rendered unto him out of her bountiful share.

FARM ISOLATION VANISHING

As long as there have been cities there have been paved streets and asphalt, which we think of usually as a modern product, was used in ancient Babylon by Nabopolassar who was the first to use it for street construction.

Charlotte's Discovery

Charlotte Avesbury was trying to decide a very important matter. The question was: Should she marry John Dixon or John Hawksbury? Had her parents insisted that she marry Dixon she would have known what to do at once—she would have gone right off and married Hawksbury.

Roman Wedding

Among ancient writers on the subject of the "Wedding Cake," Quintus Curtius is probably the most definite and reliable, for he quotes clearly the laws of Romulus, based upon those of the Etruscans and the other nations where ancient preceded the foundation of Rome.
