CHIEF STRONGHEART

CHIEF STRONGHEART is the ethnological director of the Cecil DeMille Picture Corporation. He brings to the platform a vividly dramatic lecture recital, "From Peace Pipe to War Trail," which is a gripping, fascinating interpretation of the life and soul of the Indian. Strongheart took a prominent part in the recent DeMille release "Braveheart," appearing with such artists as Red La Roche, Lillian Rich, Jean Acker and Tyrone Powers. The Chief is a direct descendant of the old fighting blood of Guster's days. He is an experienced speaker and in telling his story, he makes use of the picturesque costume and settings of the nation.

Also noted among the missing this fall is the old-fashioned prayer meeting for rain.
