

'Let's Talk' offers political insight

MARY LINDA CALDERONE

INFO TV-12 is your connection to the information super-highway! Take a ride with Ben Marks every Tuesday at 9:00 p.m. Tune into "Let's Talk." The subject of conversation is topical. The pace is fast and there are no holds barred as Marks talks with guests that play an important part in all our lives.

"1998 is shaping up to be a terrific year for 'Let's Talk,'" Marks said. "Republican/National Committee member Chuck Job, Executive Director of Detroit Renaissance and former Speaker of the State House of Representatives Paul Hillegonds, Oakland County Prosecutor David Gorjiva and former Detroit City Council member Mel Ravitz have all appeared on the show to share their views of local, county and state issues that directly affect the quality of life of each and everyone of us."

With this fall's elections, "Let's Talk" will be hosting any and all candidates for attorney general, governor, and county commissioner and Supreme Court justice. To date, the Democratic Candidate for Governor, Doug Ross, has appeared on the program. Invitations will be extended to candidates Larry Owen and Geoffrey Feigert as well. Marks anticipates their appearance in the next few weeks. Stay tuned this month for Marks' chat with Supreme Court Justice Cliff Taylor who is running for re-election to the court. And don't miss these other high profile guests: Mayor of Warren Mark Stoenbergh, Director of the American Civil Liberties Union Michael Steinberg, Secretary of State Candice Miller and Michigan State Transportation Department Director James Deanna.

Remember you're getting in-depth coverage too. "Let's Talk" is one hour long. You may just learn something you can't get out of a 10-second soundbite on the network news.

Marks makes his "mark" on INFO TV-12 as he skillfully interviews people in the spotlight. If you're wandering where his political savvy and experience comes from, you'll be interested to know he's a natural born statesman. In fact, he was one of the founding fathers of Farmington Hills. He worked with eight other individuals to construct the original charter for the city more than 20 years ago. He has served on many Boards and Commissions in addition to being a member of the Farmington Hills City Council for nine and a half years and a former mayor and President of the Municipal League. His present title is Executive Director of the Longacre House.
