

St. Mary's grad earns gold medal in Pan Am Games

What started out as a simple interest has blossomed into a fiery passion for West Bloomfield resident David Simon. A 1998 Orchard Lake St. Mary's Prep graduate, Simon joined the crew at St. Mary's in 1994 and has enjoyed a successful rowing career ever since. Earlier this month, Simon added another piece of hardware to his burgeoning trophy case by winning a coveted gold medal at the 13th Pan Am Games in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

FEATURE
I'd see the guys (from the Orchard Lake St. Mary's Prep crew) out there on the lake and it always seemed interesting," explained Simon. "I was always a basketball player when I was younger because I'm tall. I was 6-4 when I was in seventh or eighth grade. When I got to St. Mary's the coaches saw me as the ideal rower because of my size and they talked me into going to the team. As a freshman at Brown University, Simon was a member of Brown's Freshman Eight crew that won the intercollegiate Rowing Association's national championship last spring. In concentrated on rowing." That dedication to the sport is paying huge dividends. Simon was a member of the U.S. National Team's Heavyweight Eight crew that stroked to gold at the Pan Am Games by covering the 2,000-meter course (approximately 1 1/4 miles) in 3:53.50. Argentina finished second in 5:36.49 and Cuba was third in 6:36.52. The gold medal was the icing on the cake of a spectacular summer. As a freshman at Brown University, Simon was a member of Brown's Freshman Eight crew that won the intercollegiate Rowing Association's national championship last spring. In June, he found himself headed to Princeton, New Jersey to participate in the U.S. National Team selection camp, along with 40 of the nation's best rowers. In early July, Simon learned of his berth on the team for the Pan Am Games. "The whole summer has just been a great experience," said the 6-foot-6, 215-pound Simon. "The whole Brown experience, the National Team camp, now a gold medal in the Pan Am Games. It's been very exciting and it's all getting me ready for next year and the Olympics if I'm lucky." Simon's success started at St. Mary's where he was a four-year letter winner. In his senior year, Simon was a member of St. Mary's Senior Heavyweight Eight crew, which was undefeated on the year and won state, national and Canadian championships. They wrapped up the season by placing second in the prestigious Henley Royal Regatta on the River Thames in London, England. Of all the victories, one in particular sticks out in Simon's mind. "When we (St. Mary's Senior Heavyweight Eight) won the Stotesbury Cup in May of '98 it was really something," said Simon. "That's basically the scholastic national championship and that was really when everything started coming together for me. "But the Pan Am experience was pretty amazing, too. Putting on the USA uniform and hearing the national anthem was pretty incredible." Simon will return to Brown in the fall and take a leave of absence in the spring so he can return to Princeton and train with other Olympic hopefuls. "The coach told me he thinks I can make the (Olympic) team and I know I can do it," said Simon. "I think I'm the youngest member of the National Team, so I can (stay on the team) for a while."

As walk-ons go, the 6-2, 227-pound Moundros is moving up the ladder. The Michigan coaches liked what they saw in the North product during spring practice. He is third on the depth chart behind starter Aaron Shea and back-up Evan Coleman. "I feel a lot better going into this season; I feel more like I'm contributing," Moundros said. "Coleman and Shea were hurt at the end of spring (practice), and I played with the first team. With all the injuries to the running backs, I actually got to play tailback. I built a lot of confidence up this spring." Moundros, however, has no illusions of unseating the two incumbents this season. "This spring really helped my chances, but those two guys are really good players and I don't expect to be ahead of them," he said. "If fullback comes, then it comes. "It's hard to tell this early, but I'll just shoot for special teams and try to make the travel team." Moundros is only one of four team members who are graduates of the School of Engineering. He's planning a career in mechanical engineering. "It's not easy, but it will pay off in the long run," said Moundros, who commuted to Ann Arbor daily this summer and worked for his dad's painting company. Any advice for incoming walk-ons? "The first year double sessions are the worst two weeks of your life, but then it's pretty good," Moundros said. "I'm glad it's done with because I know what to expect." Who on the Michigan roster is Moundros most impressed with? "Anthony Thomas; he's such a good athlete I think he could play just about any position," he said. Joe Sgroi

During the fall of 1997, Joe

Sgroi was on top of the world, leading Redford Catholic Central to another coveted state football championship. During the fall of 1998, Sgroi figured his football days were over, resigning himself to the fact that he'd only watch from the stands. A devoted student, Sgroi was thinking only academics and the School of Business management when he stroled into Ann Arbor. Sgroi, however, suffered from football withdrawal. "I missed it a lot," he said. "I had been playing 10 years — since the fourth grade at St. Michael's. "I came home weekends and watched CC play. I missed the guys on the team and the hitting every day." In January, Sgroi approached U-M assistant coach Terry Malone, a CC grad himself, and asked if he could walk on. Sgroi was able to participate in spring drills and has been running and lifting weights ever since, commuting back and forth during the summer from his home in Plymouth. He'll be wearing No. 69 this fall. "Trying to balance football and school is not easy. It takes its toll, but you have to be self-disciplined," Sgroi said. "However, it's worth it." Last year, Sgroi held his own in the classroom, sporting a 3.4 grade-point average. At 5-11, 208 pounds, Sgroi admits he may be a little under-sized as an inside linebacker at the Big 10 level. But when head coach Lloyd Carr was asked about Sgroi, his face lit up. "That is one tough kid," he said. "And he can long-snap for us on punts (something Sgroi did at CC). He does that very well." With double sessions starting this weekend, Sgroi was itching to get back on the field. "It's like starting all over again," he said. "The pace is real intense. The biggest change is there are a lot of meetings and a lot of formations and plays to learn right off the bat." Sgroi likes what he sees in his teammates, particularly returning linebackers Dhani Jones and Ian Gold. "These two guys are incredible workers," he said. "They work as hard as anybody I've ever seen." Joe Ghannam

The spot reserved for punter on Michigan's depth chart says "TBA." To be announced. With a knee injury to Hayden Epstein, the punting job could be up for grabs, so Joe Ghannam figured he'd give Michigan a shot as a preferred walk-on. "I don't know when this window of opportunity will open, but I'll be ready to step in when the time comes," said Ghannam, who played on Harrison's state Class A championship team in 1998. "There are three punters if Epstein comes back. Right now Cory Sargeant stands out. And, of course, there's Drew Henson."

Ghannam almost followed Harrison all-state teammate Ricky Bryant to Ohio State, but he felt the pull of the Maize and Blue. His older brother C.J. plays on the Michigan baseball team. "I thought about going down with Ricky, but the hometown school is something I couldn't pass up," Ghannam said. "I feel I'm going from one great tradition in football to another great tradition in baseball. "So far all the guys have been great. And these guys are definitely the top dogs. Guys like Dhani Jones and Ian Gold... I've never seen a pair of linebackers like them. And Chris Hutchinson is impressive." Ghannam is enrolled in the School of Kinesiology and plans to study Sports Management. On the field, he takes a low profile. "I'll keep my mouth shut and take criticism as a good thing," said the rookie punter. "I look at the first year as strictly a learning experience."
