

Hawks look to future in boys tennis

With just one senior on its team, Farmington Harrison is building for the future in boys tennis under first-year coach Joe Ludwig.

The Hawks have 10 juniors, five sophomores and seven freshmen on their team, which is a member of the Oakland Activities Association's Division III this year.

"The goal this year is to build around a core of veterans a team that will compete for years to come," Ludwig said. Harrison is led by junior Greg Gaynor, who returned this season at No. 1 singles and has established himself as a contender, if not the favorite, for the division title.

In addition to Gaynor, senior Travis Cook (No. 2) singles and the No. 1 doubles team of Jason Gaynor and Alex Bojicic are key players for the Hawks, according to Ludwig.

"The remainder of the team is going to be rotated and developed for future play," he said.

Sophomore Aaron Cook, junior Kyle Kahsin and freshman Chris Hutchinson will alternate between singles and doubles.

Brian Blankenship, Takuya Higurashi, Zachary Jones, Vlad Ledebinski, Naoki Yamada, Dave Marvicsin, Bogdan Peres and Andrei Titula have appeared regularly in the lineup in early-season matches.

Sophomore Stuart Rose and juniors include Donald Christie, Ken Masonville, Tomohiko Nakano and Kevan Ventum complete the squad.

"The juniors will supply the mature foundation for the younger players and gain experience that will strengthen their game for this year, as well as 2004," Ludwig said.

Coach's comments: "It's like traveling uncharted waters," Harrison coach Brock Rastock said. "We knew a little about Rochester, because we've seen them in some invitational but not as much as the old rivals in the Western Lakes. We made a lineup and tried to go with it. The kids performed pretty well for the first meet, but we also know it's going to be a lot tougher with the likes of Clarkson, Adams and Troy. We need happy to win the first one, and we're going to have a dual meet Tuesday, Harrison, 1:0 P.M. at Division 110 overall.

North ace pitches 2-hitter in 2-0 victory

Beth Danielewicz pitched a two-hit shutout and recorded 12 strikeouts in a softball game Wednesday as North Farmington defeated host Birmingham Groves, 2-0.

Lindsay Smith drove in one of the Raiders' runs with an RBI triple.

The other run resulted from an error. Jehan Himdo hit a ball that was dropped in left field, enabling Meredith Riggins to reach home plate.

North had five hits, two by those runs, along with another in the fifth to save off the falcons, who closed the lead to one run and threatened to take the lead in the seventh if not for a spectacular catch by outfielder Jerry Lalot.

Lalot, who had two hits and scored three runs, tracked down the shot to center and fired a strike to the infield for a game-winning double play.

Adams' Elizabeth Holtz cracked two hits, drove home two runs and scored three times. Christie was finished with one hit and three RBIs as the Highlanders won for the first time in four starts.

Sophomore Bryanna Taherty, making her final varsity start, set the distance and was credited with the victory.

edge it had all night.

"It might be oversimplifying things a bit, but winning those battles was key for us," DeBoer said. "We jumped on those loose pucks and made things happen for ourselves."

After putting together two of their better efforts in back-to-back games this season, the Whalers couldn't counterattack after the Rangers would make a rush.

"We took some gambles that didn't work, and it led to some breaks for them," Whalers coach Mike Yellucci said. "They have a lot of power on their team and can score from anywhere, as they showed tonight."

Forward Petr Kanko keyed the Rangers' second-period outburst, figuring in all four of the team's goals, including scoring a pair himself.

He tried to start the scoring on a breakaway shot that deflected off the post but behind Whalers goaltender Paul Drew. Forward Nathan O'Nabigan banged in the rebound to put the Rangers on the board just 1:41 into the second period.

Kanko tucked a shot into the upper right corner around the halfway mark to double Kitchener's lead to 2-0. Michael Richards and Kanko then scored 48 seconds apart to increase the lead to 4-0.

"I thought we started the first period fine, but we were a little flat in that second period," Yellucci said.

The lone bright spot for the Whalers came with 2:22 left in the second when forward Chad LaRose scored a power-play goal on a nice backhand shot off a hard pass from defenseman James Wisniewski.

The goal was LaRose's eighth of the playoffs but just his second in the team's past seven games. He scored 54 times in the regular season.

The Rangers squashed any chances of a Whalers comeback in the opening moments of the third period. Center Derek Roy swatted in a loose puck off a 3-on-2 break to put Kitchener up 5-1.

Steve Eminger finished off the scoring with a power-play goal with 9:34 left in the contest.

Eminger's goal came at the tail end of a five-minute power play. Plymouth's Steve Phillips was given a match penalty at the 14:24 mark of the third period and faces a possible suspension.

DeBoer said his team wasn't taking anything for granted after the big win.

"I think both teams are good road teams, and you can see in some of the NHL series, home ice doesn't mean much," he said. "After the thumping we took in Game 1, I won't need to remind these guys to stay sharp for Game 3."

Yellucci said his team has responded well to adversity in the playoffs and didn't have to look back too far for an example.

"We lost Game 6 to London, 5-1, and we came back strong the next game," he said. "This team prides itself on responding to adversity."
