Switzers at Funerals Of Father And Aunt.

Dr. and Mrs. Elmer Switzer of Farmington attended the funerals of the father and aunt of Mrs. Switzer at Milford recently, the deaths occurring but a few days apart. Mrs. Switzer's father, Charles A. Tuck, was a well-known citizen of this part of the County. He was 69 years old.

The Tucks lived at the old homestead, four miles south of Milford. The brother and sister whose deaths came so closely together were the last of twelve children of George and Lucinda Tuck, whose family was one of the first to settle in Oakland County.

My Favorite Stories by Irvin J. Cobb

The Temperamental Hound-Dawg

ABOUT once in so often some impassioned partisan rises up in Congress or elsewhere and accuses the majority party or the individual of somebody of bribery, corruption, fraud and incompetency, and announces his intention of making the scandrels out. This type of person is especially numerous in presidential years, but we have had other years.

A few years ago I was in 1916. I believe, there was a prominent speaker from the Republican side who spoke forth upon his expurgation of the avowed intention of proving that wholesale Democratic stupidity at Washington had practically ruined the country and then he challenged the country to back up his assertions, was set shy of actual ammunition that for the moment he could point only to the instance of a party official, a holdover from the Wilson administration who, in alleged violation of civil service laws, had been ousted from his job to make room for a Wilson man.

The incident reminded a friend of mine down South of a certain great hound dog which he owned. He said to me:

"The old fellow used to tell me that when his father came over the Wilderness trail from North Carolina he brought with him the fastest, the bestest, the keenest-scented hound that had ever been seen in the infant settlements beyond the mountains. But the dog suffered from a temperamental defect which afflicted against his success."

"At sunrise he would start out on his own hook after deer. He would jump a buck and run him for miles. When the buck was at the point of exhaustion the hound's nostrils would catch the faint in the air where a fox had crossed the trail, and he would instantly decide that, after all, fox was what he had come for; and he would turn aside to pursue the fox."

"Perhaps an hour later, when the chase was growing warmer every minute, his keen nose would detect the presence of a rabbit, and he would go after that. At the close of the inevitable result that by four o'clock in the afternoon that hound would be thirty or forty miles away from home, in a swamp, with a chipmunk trail!"

Special Duty Placed on Last Homecomer

Governor Gore of West Virginia was talking at a Charleston luncheon about oil troubles. "Strong measures are needed," he said, "to save our oil reserves. Yes, we must cut to the root of the evil—not just resort to expedients, like the paternalism."

"A paternalism with a large family of daughters said to a friend one day:

"With all these daughters of mine coming in at all hours my night's rest is naturally much broken up, and for some time the consequence was that I'd oversleep myself every morning, and be late for work at the office. Had business."

"The paternalism looked gloomy, then he brightened up.

"But—Well, it is a splendid expedient now," he said, "I've made it a hard and fast rule that the last girl in calls me on her way to school."

Radio From Your Body

Almost every one has had the strange experience of "feeling the presence" of some person in a room, when that person was out of sight and hearing. According to Popular Science Monthly, two blank professors have made discoveries which may help explain the mystery. The skin, they have found, holds an electrical charge, as if connected with a hidden battery. The electrical field emanates that our bodies send forth electrical emanations which can be detected six feet away.

Gives Road Report

A report showing the great quantities of material used in building County roads during the past year was read Wednesday noon by Luther D. Allen, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission, who attended the Farmington Exchange Club lunch con.

FARMINGTON MEN AT MEETING OF COUNTY COUNCIL

Service Men Seeking To Organize Non-Members; Next Meet At Birmingham

On Tuesday evening last, the Oakland County Council, American Legion, held its monthly meeting at Hazel Park. A good representation was present from all over the county. The purpose of the meeting at Hazel Park was the organizing into the American Legion of some sixty ex-service men. Joseph Gillis, commander of the Wayne County Council, made a speech on the work of the Legion. Dr. Bening of Royal Oak, Legion County Welfare officer also delivered a talk on welfare work throughout the county. Representatives from Farmington were Commander Myron Carrier, Adjutant Herbert Lindstrom, Chairman of Delegates, Earl Wagner, and Delegate Charles Laska. The next meeting of the Oakland County Council will be held at Birmingham February 6.

There's a Difference

A young fellow who never has been known to go out of his way to take an airplane ride was told the other day that he was included in a "get out of the county" party to get out one afternoon with a visiting pilot at the Mass Hill airport.

"Well, I can't say that you seem particularly overwhelmed by the invitation," one of his companions remarked.

"Overwhelmed, yes," answered the young fellow, "but I don't think it is anything to get up in the air about." —Indianapolis News.

Her Recipe

Some friends were kidding Blanche McHaffey about her "hief marriage, which is almost a record in Los Angeles courts.

"But," said one sweet-sounding thing, "coming to Blanche's defense, you can talk all you want, but I don't see what protection anyone has against love at first sight!"

"I can answer that," cut in Blanche. "Love at first sight can generally be cured by taking a second good look." —Los Angeles Times.

Found Her-Fee Was Wild

A big black bear, roaming down from the mountains in search of plunder, was fed by a Captiano (British Columbia) woman, who thought he was tame. Milk and honey she gave, the black fellow who appeared at her doorstep, thinking him the pet of Charles, Anderson's forest ranger.

For several days the bear appeared and was fed. At last the kind woman asked Mr. Anderson why he didn't feed his bear and the mistake was discovered.

Work for Armenian Women

Armenian women who fled to Marselles with their husbands during the Greek-Turkish war of 1922-23, have founded a rug-weaving industry. The men were able to find work in mines, factories and on farms, but the women were less fortunate. Local capital was interested in rug weaving and the women workers now produce more than 6,000 square meters of oriental rugs yearly in clean plants.

Horse Furniture

Mrs. Foster—Some barn indeed! Where do you get this horse furniture? It's a hand-embroidered family bag. It's nothing like a horse bag.

Her Husband—That's what I thought. It's a horse bag for a clothes-horse.

Drastic Methods

Doctor—The only way for you to regain your figure is to cut out the sweets? Fair Patient—Gracias, are you going to operate for the diabetes I take this morning?
