COCKLE-BURS

A friend of mine who traveled through the Ozarks tells this story on one of the hound dogs he met there.

His attention was attracted to this dog because of the howl which the animal emitted at frequent intervals. After being interrupted repeatedly by the howls of the dog, my friend asked one of the natives what was the matter with the dog.

He said, "Nothing is the matter with him. He is sitting on a cockle-bur."

"Well, why doesn't he move?" I asked.

The native answered, "Oh, he'd rather howl than move!"—Exchange.

"SINCE I bought my new Electrochef, I never have to worry about getting home early to begin dinner. The automatic Time-Clock Oven Control attends to that. I simply put the whole meal in the oven before I leave, and set the clock for the correct cooking time. Then I forget all about it. The oven turns itself on and off automatically. When I come home, dinner is waiting, perfectly cooked and ready for the table.

"Now that I've discovered my new kitchen freedom, I wonder how I ever got along without it. I enjoy many added hours of leisure and find time for many things I could never do before. Thanks to my new electric range, I can spend the whole afternoon out-of-doors. It gives me the best part of the day to myself. And one of the things I like best about my new Electrochef is that it never overheats the kitchen!"
