Committee Stresses Importance Of Wildlife, The Neglected Resource

National wildlife restoration week which opened Sunday is just the beginning of a "wildlife push," the opinion of Prof. Paul A. Herbert, of Michigan State College and head of the Michigan committee for the national event. "I hope that the end of wildlife week will not be regarded as the end of the campaign," Mr. Herbert said. "This week is intended as the opening program—merely the beginning of a nationwide push to restore wildlife. The week was proclaimed as a means of arousing public interest and generating momentum for an effort which should continue indefinitely."

BEAVERS OBSERVE WILDLIFE WEEK

The height of either impudence or prudence has been discovered in a swamp north of Lansing. Beavers, building a house, had the temerity to grow down a "No Trespassing" sign and place it on the side of their abode. The sign reads "No Trespassing, Shooting Preserve, Patrolled."

The first outcome of the Restoration is a proposal for a comprehensive wildlife conservation program for the state of Michigan. The proposal recommends the appointment of a wildlife planning commission to outline Michigan's wildlife problems.

E. G. ROBINSON DEMONSTRATES GANG TORTURE

Movie fans who go to the Redford Theater Friday, Saturday, Sunday or Monday will see Edward G. Robinson and a group of cinema thugs demonstrate in "The Last Gangster" a few of the methods the underworld has of disseminating information from people. Mr. Robinson, who several years ago drew gasps from the audience with the most realistic death crumple ever seen on a Broadway stage, will show how a victim acts during the "10-mile walk," how he is tormented with phony offers of free water when his tongue is hanging out several feet and all the other little pleasantries of gangland.

least public attention and support, according to Helos A. Foresman, Regional Director of the National Wildlife Federation. "Farmers, for instance, often pay scant attention to birdlife on their farms because it brings them no direct return, when as a matter of fact birds devour a multitude of insects that prey upon the farmers' crops. "As a result of the lack of concerted interest and action, our wildlife resources are in many instances at a low ebb, and indeed, have been despoiled and depleted to such an extent that some species are already extinct, or nearing extinction," Mr. Foresman said.

Fortunately, for most species, despite the necessary inroads of civilization and the unnecessary devastation and depletion that has taken place there is still enough game stock available to perpetuate them. In many cases, it is still possible to increase their numbers to approximate conditions existing in Michigan when the Indians hunted with bow and arrow.

One of the strongest forces working to assure the success of the National Wildlife Restoration program is its support by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce. Roosevelt Perry Rosenburg, National President of the Junior C. of C., was a recent visitor to Michigan, having delivered an address at Pontiac earlier this month. His visit provided a great stimulus to interest in the Conservation movement as well as all other Junior Chamber of Commerce activities.

FLAG EDUCATION CAN DESTROY ISM PROPAGANDA

The publicity committee of Groves-Walker Post No. 346 of the American Legion of Farmington submitted the following to the Enterprise: Your flag incarnates for all mankind a spirit of liberty and a glorious ideal of human freedom that has never been had in any other country in this grand universe. Not the freedom of unrestrained or the liberty of license, but a unique ideal of equal opportunity for life, patriotism; its spirit is the spirit of you, the American nation; its history is the history of you, the American people. Emblazoned upon its folds, in letters of living light, are the names and fame of our heroic dead, the Fathers of the Republic who devoted upon its altar their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor. Twice-told tales of national honor and glory flash thereby about it. Ever victorious, it has emerged triumphant from eight great national conflicts. It flew at Saratoga, at Yorktown, at Palo Alto, at Gettysburg, at Manila Bay, at Chapultepec. The last one mentioned was our war, and we learned what Sherman said war was.

IRATE FATHER ON PROBATION FOR USING BAD WORDS

Because he used vulgar and insulting language in the presence of children when John Grace and his wife were remanded to the John Fitch is under six months' probation to State Trooper Welch. He also must stay away from the school. Fitch pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Municipal Judge John J. Schulte, Jr., but the sentence was suspended. With one exception all other recent cases brought before Judge Schulte were traffic violations. The one exception was the case of Raymond Donald Collins, Pittsburgh, Penn., who pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct when drunk and was sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail. He had just finished time on a counter-fet charge. Enoch Walter, Detroit, paid $5 in costs with sentence suspended because he failed to stop at a stop street, 10 Mile Road and North-western. Walter H. Pashby ran a red light at Farmington Road and Grand River and paid the fine of $5 in preference to five days in jail. Mike Wellock, who was charged with car theft in Southfield Township, changed his plea to guilty in the Circuit Court at Pontiac and will be sentenced Monday. James W. Bagley, Inkster, was sentenced to five days in the County Jail for reckless driving. John Rostan, Detroit, paid a fine of $5 for driving against traffic on the Cut-off, a one-way road. We hope that you will never participate in any war.

Editor Writes Daring Article On Lynching

"In Michigan murderers do not hang; paricides do," says Dr. Eugene S. McCartney, editor of Scholarly Publications at the University of Michigan, in the winter number of the Michigan Alumni Quarterly Review just published. Dr. McCartney's article is in fulfillment of threat of several years' standing to expose writers' abuse of the various species of the participle, a literary crime with which he has had considerable experience in his 16 years of blue penning. Those who themselves have had to watch out for this pesky part of speech will enjoy reading his genial characterization of the "vaunting participle," "dangling participle," "blushing author's participle" and others.
