The fact that any voter, man or woman, is either a Democrat or a Republican, is no reason why they should close their ears and minds to the political discussions and debates of these pre-election weeks.

The Democratic and Republican parties have been see-sawing back and forth in political victories and control since the time of Lincoln, and the voters are being asked to meet new conditions in our life this coming November.

Senator Truman threw out the first ball for President Roosevelt, and advanced the theory that he should be re-elected because he is the most "experienced" man on foreign affairs in the world.

Republican leaders promptly replied the war will soon be over and that the great questions for the next four years will be right here at home with reconstruction, reconversion, reorganization, recovery, and jobs for every man and woman who wants to work. We are all familiar with the record of the Democratic administration under Mr. Roosevelt. It is the duty of all to listen to the critics who are backing the candidacy of Mr. Dewey. They have equal rights to state their cause between now and the November election.

Governor Dewey opened his campaign at Philadelphia with an indictment of the New Deal. Many years of depression and unemployment had existed until the war broke loose "with all its tragic toll of death, debt and destruction." Then he recalled the statement of General Hershey that after the war "we can keep people in the Army about as cheaply as we could create an agency for them when they are out." None of that stuff is accepted by Dewey. He proposes to turn the men in the military services loose, and put them in their proper places in life. He declared that a million new homes must be built every year for many years. He asserted that we cannot keep our freedom and continue experimentation with new policies every day by the national government.

Eighty years ago one heard the prophecy that "Around the world thoughts shall fly, in the twinkling of the eye." It was a radio forecast before it became a supplementary instrument of "the papers."

But why not follow the advice of one of the wisest of men, Will Rogers, who often repeated these words: "All I know is what I see in the papers." Keep your mind open, and read, and re-read the papers.

School Days Again

The other morning we looked out the window and thought with a sort of pang, "Summer is over!" For there went the children to school, shoes shined, hair combed, small dresses starched and suits pressed.

Never do I see this September parade, or feel the new emptiness outdoors at nine o'clock, without wondering, "Does school still smell the way it did on my own first day—of fresh paint and apples and chalk, and crayons and brown drawing paper?"

Well, they're the luckiest children in the world today, these youngsters with clean faces, trudging off with their books. Do we realize, I wonder, just how lucky they are?

In Poland for instance, all books by anti-Nazis were blacklisted—no new books have been put out for five years. Universities have been closed, teachers arrested and students sent to concentration camps. Higher education has been forbidden in many lands, the Netherlands, for instance. Even young children, like the ones who pass your house, go off to work in war plants.

In China most of the universities have been wiped out. And in Germany and Japan there is no free universal education any more. The leaders there have feared an enlightened people above everything else.

So of all their generation today, these kids in our town and other towns like ours, are the privileged few. If we teach them to love the ways of peace and freedom and opportunity, and to hate all tyranny that shackles thought or action, I think we can safely leave the future in their hands.

The Golden Text (II Cor. 4:18) is: "The things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal."
Among the Bible citations in this passage (Ps. 34:19): "Many are the afflictions of the righteous; but the Lord delivereth him out of them all."
Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (218): "When we wake to the truth of being, all disease, pain, weakness, weariness, sorrow, sin, death, will be unknown, and the mortal dream will forever cease."

The Rubicon

"Crossing the Rubicon" means to commit oneself irrevocably to a course of action. A small stream in Italy flowing into the Adriatic it separated Sisalpine Gaul from Italy proper. It was an act of treason for a Roman to enter Italy with an army and when Julius Caesar crossed the river in 49 B. C., leading his army, it was the commencement of civil war. There has been controversy as to whether Caesar actually did cross this river on his march as indisputable identification is impossible.

Ascorbic Acid

There are about 100 milligrams of ascorbic acid (vitamin C) in 3/4 ounce of grapefruit juice. The average adult needs at least 80 milligrams of ascorbic acid daily.

Looking Back Through The Enterprise Files

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO (October 3, 1919)
Second Attempt Yields Big Mail

The second attempt at breaking into the Cook and Nacker store was a very successful one last Friday night, when a truck load of some $1,000 was carried away, and no clue left, except the finding of a shoe along the road, by Miss Corbie Noble, near the John Melow home north of the Methodist Church hill Saturday morning as she drove to town.

Will Organize Club

There will be a Blue Rock shoot at the new rifle range west of the cemetery Saturday afternoon, at which time a club will be organized. All enjoying practice with a gun are invited to be present, and help make the affair a success.

Grake Collar Bone

The first game of football of the Farmington High School was held last Friday when they were up against a much heavier team from the Northville High, and was attended by a rather bad accident. Harold Grace, who was playing left tackle, was thrown to the ground in such a manner that his collar bone was broken, which will lay him up for some time, and will probably incapacitate him from playing on the team in the future.

TEN YEARS AGO (October 11, 1934)

Production At Winery Is At Peak

Stimulation in large amounts can be had in Farmington gratis. A tour of inspection through Farmington's newest and largest industrial plant, LaSalle Wines and Champagne, Inc., will make most heads dizzy—for two reasons. The odor of fermenting grapes will be caught while still some distance from the plant, and as if this was not enough, the figures reeled off by C. A. Meyfarth, secretary of the corporation, will certainly fluster the job.

Wed Fifty Years

On Monday, October 15, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Hogle will be at home to their friends and neighbors from one to six o'clock p. m., the occasion being their golden wedding anniversary.

Well Goes Dry, Bo School Closes

The John Grace School near Clarenceville has been closed for more than two weeks because the well went dry. One of four men has been busy re-drilling and deepening the well, but quicksand which was encountered has hampered all efforts to restore it.

FIVE YEARS AGO (September 28, 1935)

To Open Bids On School Bus Service

The Clarenceville school board will open bids for their new bus transportation service at their meeting Thursday, October 5. The bus service, for school children in the Clarenceville schools, will remain on the same schedule as last year.

Bank To Add More Space

Additional space for the convenience of customers will be provided by the Farmington State Bank by the addition of an extra room. Representatives of the D. B. McClintock Co. of Minneapolis, have been working through the past week, enlarging the waiting room for safety vault depositors, and installing the burglar alarm system for the protection of the new space.

School Building Nears Completion

What amounts to the "finishing touches" are now being put on the new school auditorium-gymnasium and school officials hope to be able to move into the new quarters by the third or fourth week in October. A meeting of the school board will be held Tuesday evening for the purpose of opening bids on equipment for the new building.

Puffelen, Grand Rapids watchmaker, and Aubrey Hansen, office in cash. Congress had slashed appropriations for the U.S. employment service. The Labor market was glutted; payrolls were cut. Yes, times have changed!

Michigan has more than 500,000 men and women in the armed services today.

Hence, the importance of adequate preparedness today to take care of some of these veterans tomorrow, when they return to arrive and part of our war tasks will be terminated.

Work of the Office of Veterans Affairs and the State Board of Control, at Pine Lake is graphic proof that Michigan is right on the job—in fact, leading the entire nation in giving Johnny a break, and for the first time.

First Locomotive

In 1801 one Richard Trevithick began experiments on more satisfactory methods of transporting coal. Three years later, on February 15, 1804, the first locomotive made its ten-mile trip in Cornwall, England. He built three of these early locomotives. One, engagingly named "Catch Me Who Can," created a sensation when shown in London.

When the World War I veteran

Here's how the vocational school will operate. "Thanks to the wonders of modern medicine, more veterans will come home from World War II than from any war in world history. Battle casualties are less fatal. Disabilities will be more numerous. Hence, care of the disabled veteran is more important today than ever."
The Pine Lake Camp, originally built by W. K. Kellogg, for children at a cost of $470,000, will be available to disabled Michigan veterans who are eligible for the services of rehabilitation. It is fitting that the capacity will be 250 veterans. The training period will vary from 90 to 120 days. Thus, a year's training load of approximately 1,000 veterans is now anticipated.

Pine Lake Camp will provide disabled veterans with vocational training in metal work, machine shop, woodwork, gas welding, blueprint and drafting, office practice, cooking and baking, and watchmaking. At a $100,000 annual budget, the camp will offer educational training with all meals and lodging at no cost. Ten veterans and two civilians are now enrolled in preliminary classes—proof that present activity is being confined to preparation for tomorrow's responsibilities. Instructors are John Van

Peace will come, perhaps sooner than many of us believe. Then will be no time for folded hands, or for any mental lethargy, because one big job will have been done. We shall be faced with an urgent new job—to swing our community smoothly back into the normal orbit of peacetime living. We pledge the full cooperation of this bank with you in creating and carrying out constructive community plans for happy, fruitful years to come—after victory.
