

TO MOST OF FARMINGTON... the war has been over for a long while, but it really wasn't over at all for Glenn Leland until right now.

OLD STOCKINGS... are usually just about as useless as anything can be. However, such is the case right now for the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

THE CLAIM... comes this week, by Henry Trombley, Farmington Post Office employee, that he has the holyhock in Farmington and we think people.

WITH ALL BUILDING... has been a long time since one curtailed during the war years. It has been a long time since one heard the sound of the hammer at work, and the pound of the hammer.

LABOR DAY IN FARMINGTON... has become a sort of tradition with a lot of folks, for in this means the American Legion Gala Days as much as it does a National holiday.

WE ALWAYS KNOW... that the summer months passed all too quickly for most of us. We never seem to be able to do all the picnicking, swimming and other outdoor fun that we want to.

IT STILL SEEMS A BIT STRANGE... to walk into the markets in town and see the counters well stocked with an assortment of fresh butter, and no line waiting to make purchases.
