Among the ingenious, automatic vending machines which sell goods and services to the American public are those which pop, butter and salt a bag of popcorn; wash your clothes; deliver an electronically-heated hot dog sandwich; sell railroad tickets or insurance policies; take your shoes; record your voice; take your picture, rent you a typewriter. A new type of coin changer, according to an article in Capper's Magazine, enables a machine to take a big coin, tell a product and return the correct change.

Discover Mayan Altars
The two carved limestone altars discovered by the Carnegie expedition in the newly found Mexican Mayan site are of great archeological importance. One is a medallion altar ornamented by a row of glyphs which have not yet been deciphered. The other is adjudged one of the best examples of Mayan sculpture so far discovered. Its lines are at least as good as the best found in Palenque, which is commonly regarded as the finest example of Mayan sculpture. The expedition was undertaken with the approval of the Mexican government by the Carnegie Institute of Washington. It was sponsored by the United Fruit company.

Mrs. William Kapp and daughter, Nancy, spent Monday in Detroit.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
"Terrible, Terrible, Terrible!"
Ben Ryder is back! After twenty years in Capital City, Ben has returned and come to enjoy life in the family home on Maple Street.
First thing Ben does is write us complaining how our Town has changed. "Why, there's no mud in the streets to sink up to your ankles in!" he says. "No pistol feuding in the town square! No moonshine liquor or Saturday night brawl! Nothing to do but settle for a temperate glass of beer in a law-abiding tavern!"
"Terrible, terrible, terrible," Ben says, "how a town can get run down in twenty years!" And then Ben takes his tongue out of his check and tells us how proud he is of the orderly, law-abiding atmosphere he finds here.
And from where I sit, you can point to that growing preference for a moderate, wholesome glass of beer as one reason folks in our Town are so temperate, and neighborly and well-behaved.

Water to Fight Fires
Water is not always a help in putting out fires. For instance, water should not be used to quench electrical fires, because severe shock or even electrocution can result. Grease or oil fires are only scattered if water is tossed on them. Fire extinguishers or sand should be used for these fires.

News and Comment from Congressmen
George A. Dowd

Foreign demand for food: According to the report of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's Foreign Commerce Committee, recently returned from Europe, the direct foreign demand for farm products is not large, with the exception of wheat. This demand is for wheat to raise prices of other grains and eventually the whole range of farm products such as meats, dairy products, and poultry.
The United States and other governments have available dollars are planning to purchase for shipment abroad during the year ending June 30, 1948, approximately 150 million bushels of wheat and 74 million bushels of other grains. Over 300 million bushels of this amount have already been purchased.
American vs. Russian Travelers: Little more than a month ago, Russia refused to allow our Assistant Secretary of State and 12 of our Senators and Government officials to enter Russia for the purpose of inspecting the U. S. Embassy in Moscow. At the same time, hundreds of citizens from Russia and her satellites, over half of whom are official representatives and agents of the Soviet Government, are permitted to travel freely through the United States. Accordingly, Congressman William Cole (R-Mo.) introduced a resolution in Congress to deport all citizens of Russia in excess of the number of our American citizens permitted in those countries. The situation should be equalized.
Export of scarce goods: The office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, reports (Nov., 1947) that during 1946 we exported to Soviet Russia goods in the amount of $25,220,000, of which $141,744,000 was under UNRRA; $152,124,000, Lend Lease; with only $3,379,000 of which were cash purchases. During the first seven months of 1947, we have exported to the Soviet goods in the amount of $111,014,000 Russia has paid in cash for but $91,175,000 of this amount. This means that we are exporting to Russia goods in the amount of $191,235,000 per day.
President Truman is reported to have said in a recent press conference (November 21) that Russia had purchased 216 freight cars from the U. S. between April and October of this year and that he saw no reason why shipments of this type and of such other equipment as machine tools, tractors, farm equipment, and similar supplies should not be sent to Soviet Russia. We all know that these are scarce goods and that our Western States have been begging for freight cars for months and months, in which to move grain and other commodities.
Congressman Karl E. Mundt (R-S. Dakota) has introduced a measure asking for a full report on goods shipped to Russia and the firms exporting same, as well as a report on the unfilled Soviet orders of this type of goods, so that our citizens may know the facts. Congressman Mundt states that his purpose in introducing his resolution is to stop all exports to Russia which might be used in building up war industries there. The shipment of strategic materials to Russia looks strangely like the plan carried out by the late President Franklin Roosevelt and his State Department in furnishing scrap iron to Japan, which later was used against us in a fighting war. In my "News and Comment" early in July of this year, I acquainted you with the fact that I had protested the shipment of oil to Russia while at the same time there were shortages of this commodity in the States. Michigan is already beginning to feel the pinch for fuel oil.
