parations could not be taxed twice.

As the long-range solution of state aid must be popularized at the ballot box, a new tax on a temporary emergency basis would have a fighting chance of being repealed if the tax were unpopular. If the tax hit only a few corporations, chances are good that the law would be repealed definitely. Voters tend to ignore the tax, really that corporations must add taxes to consumer prices and that the consumer ultimately foots the bill.

A new tax upon all employers would certainly hit many voters compared to the illusive corporation profits tax. This would be particularly true if the legislature resisted pressure of lobbyists for special exemptions and if business leaders on every Main Street in Michigan, as well as farmers, had to reckon with the new levy. And yet the fact remains that the same sponsors of the State Aid Survey, proposing a long-range solution through revision of the Constitution, are nervously wary about the possibility of being trapped in their own program.

If the voters in 1954 were to favor continuation of the present high state aid to local governments, then industries would be caught in a squeeze.

This predicament has prompted suggestions that a "managerial deficit" might not be such a bad thing after all; the legislature might well postpone action until rising sales taxes might help solve the problem. And so it goes — evading the issue and postponing the solution until tomorrow.

Marks of harmony between Republicans and Democrats can be seen at the present session, although this, naturally enough, does not extend to all issues. Gov. Williams publicly complimented the legislature on its sound approach to major state problems, including finance, and listed many other subjects he would like to see covered before adjournment. Among them are modernization of civil defense, improving control over drivers' licensing, lowering voting age to 18, adopting "Little Hoover Commission" reorganization proposals, a state seal of quality for agricultural products, a fair employment practices law, revisions of criminal law, including sexual deviate provisions, laws to stop the spread of animal diseases, increased farm research facilities, laws providing more benefits for workers, and more adequate medical facilities.

One party difference exists over the question of opening welfare rolls to public inspection. A bill to permit this was passed last week by the House 56 - 41, with all Democrats voting against the

Farmington Council To Adopt League Plan

The Farmington High Student Council has adopted a plan of the Interlakes Student Council and will serve refreshments to visiting teams next year.

This is being done in some schools and has been a main topic of discussion this year.

Refreshments will be served to the teams, cheerleaders, and officials following football and basketball games.

If you want your ceiling to seem lower, paint it with warm or dark hues in contrast with side walls, suggest Michigan State College home economists. A square room will take on "heat" dimensions if one wall is painted a dark or warm color.

DETROIT FIREMEN'S BASEBALL LEAGUE TO OPEN MAY 10

On Sunday, May 10, at 1:00 p.m., the Detroit Firemen's Baseball League will celebrate its 18th Annual Opening Day ceremonies at Northwestern Field.

Over one hundred-eighty baseball players, the Board of Fire Commissioners, many city officials, the officials of the Detroit Firemen's Fund Association and many well-wishers and spectators will be in attendance.

The opening ceremonies will be followed by six baseball games which will be played simultaneously. No admission is charged and everyone is welcome.

This league is supported from the proceeds of the annual Detroit Firemen's Field Day which is sponsored by the Detroit Firemen's Fund Association.

In its previous years of existence, no boy player has ever been convicted of a major crime. The only requirement for a boy to participate is that he be under seventeen years of age.

The leading teams of the twelve participating battalion teams play for the City Championship at the Detroit Firemen's Field Day at Briggs Stadium on August 22 and 23.

The nine species of oak native to Michigan are important contributors to the wealth and beauty of the state's forest land. Most farmers and widespread of the oaks is the white oak.

No matter the size or type of truck you need — what better proof could there be that a Chevrolet truck is your best buy!

Recently published official registration figures for the last full year show that truck users in every single State bought more Chevrolets than any other make!

It is difficult to imagine more convincing proof of Chevrolet's superiority, for such clear-cut and overwhelming preference can lead to but one conclusion: Chevrolet trucks must be better, must enjoy solid advantages over other trucks. Such preference must rest on a firm foundation of good, sound value. And, of course, it does — as owners of Chevrolet trucks can testify.

So before you buy any truck, see how much more Chevrolet trucks offer you. Stop in and see us soon. Continuation of standard equipment and items illustrated is dependent on availability of material.
