Take Sarah Fisher Children To Zoo

Several members of the Northland Chapter of D.C.C.I. had a rather unusual outing last week.

They went to the zoo for the day with the unusual part of the outing being that they chaperoned 27 little folks between the ages of 4 and 8 from the Sarah Fisher Home.

The day began with a bus ride from the Home at 10:00 a.m., a picnic lunch at the park, the usual trek around to see the animals, feed them peanuts, drink gallons of water, and ask millions of questions. It proved quite a task to keep track of the little folks, members indicated.

The day was made complete with a train ride from "Station Africa" back to the bus for the ride home. The result was 27 happy little folks, three tired "daddies", and six tired "mamas". All agreed to one statement, however, "Let's do it again sometime."

The club would like to express their thanks to Our Lady of Sorrows for allowing them to use their bus for the day.

Diane Franjac Among Select Group Attending Music Workshop

Diane Franjac of Farmington, a sophomore at the University of Michigan and an active member of several U. of M. singing groups, is among a select group of more than 160 young musicians attending the Fred Waring Youth Music Workshop at Delaware Water Gap, Pennsylvania, this week.

The highly concentrated course is taught by the same instructors who train the famous Waring Pennsylvanians and is personally headed by Fred Waring.

Through its first eight seasons, the workshop held sessions exclusively for adults. At the request of workshop alumni, however, a special leadership program of instruction for young instrumentalists and singers was started in 1955 by the formation of a Youth Symphony Orchestra and Youth Chorus.

The Youth Orchestra Workshop is a special two-week course under the direction of Guy Taylor, brilliant conductor of the Nashville, Tenn. Symphony Orchestra.

In addition to a strenuous instructional schedule, the young musicians are also having the opportunity of observing "behind the scenes," some of the Fred Waring shows originating daily via CBS-TV from Waring's spacious resort-hotel, Shawnee Inn.
