From where I sit... by Joe Marsch A City-Doity

Took a back road home last week and stopped for gas at Hopkins Crossing—a village with three or four stores, a few houses and a Post Office. While I was there another fellow drove up to the gas station, with Big City written all over him—from his clothes to his black-long car, to his attitude. "Nothing like the real country for peace and quiet, is there?" he remarked to the attendant. "Why, I wouldn't know," the attendant said. "I lived all my life right here in town!"
