The Barrier Between You and Trouble

It is a wise man who can persuade himself that there are wolves abroad in the land other than the one which dire poverty usually impersonates. "No work" may be snapping at the heels of the laboring man. "Reduction in the office force" may be snarling even now at the salaried man. "Poor Crops" occasionally prowls around the farmers' fields, and yet a little surplus in the bank is a barrier across which the wolf of "hard luck" has never been known to come. Protect your home and yourself by opening an account with this bank.

REPUBLICANS "COME BACK"

Michigan Returns to the G. O. P.
Column With a Good Big Majority

The result of Monday's election has proven that the republicans can "come back" and that the progressives, as a party fired their biggest gun last fall and are now practically out of the game.

The republican state ticket was elected by a big majority and woman's suffrage was defeated. Several counties went dry and some went wet.

Old Oakland came forward, as usual, with a big republican victory and also carried the good roads proposition by over 3,000.

Equal suffrage was defeated in the county as was also the hospital bonding proposal.

Farmington did its share to carry the road question, Brandon, Groveland, Highland, Milford, Rose and White Lake, being the only townships to go against it.

The board of supervisors now stands to republicans and to democrats, a gain of three by the democrats.

The vote in Farmington and majorities received is given below:

Supervisor—J. L. Hogle, 127
Clerk—H. A. Schroder, 104
Treasurer—Fred Stamann, 95
Justice (full term)—Clarence E. Wood, 99

Justice (one year)—John H. Thayer, 102
Justice (three years)—William Sly, 102

Com'r of Highways—Thomas Lytle, 66
Overseer of highways—Chris Brossow

Bd. of Review—Fred Goers, 102
Constables—John Mahoney, Bert Joe, Ed. Grimmer, Fred Stamann.

In Nov. three democrats were elected to the offices of supervisor, highway commissioner and overseer of highways. All the rest were republicans as follows:

Supervisor, Lee L. West; clerk, Fred W. Durfee; treasurer, John S. Wedow; justice, Samuel L. Morgan; highway commissioner, Grant Putnam; overseer of highways, Ford S. Brooks; board of review, Geo. Erwin; constables, John E. Wedow, Ulie A. Tibbitts, Robert Chamberlain, Mathew Stott.

Goes to Sanitarium

Edgell Horner, son of the late Rev. S. W. Horner, is suffering with tuberculosis and has gone to a sanitarium at Liberty, N. Y., in the hope that a stay in the Adirondack Mountains will prove beneficial. He had been employed in Detroit and made his home with his mother here. Mrs. Horner has vacated the parsonage, stored her household goods and departed this week for Germantown, Philadelphia, where her daughter resides and later will go to her son at Liberty, N. Y.

"I hate the word charity—not the charity that means love—there is not enough love to go around—but the kind of charity that leads a man when he sees a poor shivering wretch, to go down into his pockets, produce a quarter, and then go away with his heart warming and thing: 'I am a fine fellow.' We do not want charity.—we want justice."—Woodbridge N. Ferris.

"We have continued to be occupied by our little affairs and have given little thought to the nation and to our posterity."—Woodbridge N. Ferris.

"It is true that where one gets without working, many work without getting."—Woodbridge N. Ferris.

"What this dear world wants is less charity and more justice."—Woodbridge N. Ferris.

SUBDIVISION OPENS APRIL 12

Fred. W. Warner's Grand River Ave. Subdivision is on Grand River Ave.

Just east of and adjoining closely the built-up section of the beautiful Village of Farmington, Grand River Avenue has a hard roadbed, has cement walks and sewer and water. This beautiful subdivision is 60 minutes from the center of Detroit, and only 20 minutes from the city limits. A number of beautiful homes will be started at once. Among the builders are Fred W. Warner, Anson Otto, a number of employees of the Detroit United Railway and Perry-Mortenson Co., of Detroit. The entire subdivision is restricted to residence purposes; no liquors will be allowed to be sold, and no buildings are to be moved upon the lots. The houses on opposite side of the streets, and will be set back 20 feet from the front lot lines so that there will be 110 feet between those facing each other.

A Question.
How would you like to have a home of your own; a home just as you always pictured it—where the lots are wide and deep and the subdivision is fringed with giant maples—near to an attractive village, having all the improvements of a city and the exclusiveness of a country place—How would you like it?

Just think what a home with good neighbors, such social surroundings and delightful recreation of gardening means to you, your wife and children. Churches and schools are all ready there, and all the advantage of city life.

Have a home away from the crowded city, away from nerve-racking noises, where you can have real recreation, where your children can have pure air and grow to be healthy and strong. Only 60 minutes from downtown.

The Improvements.
Fifteen miles of the finest roads in Michigan takes you to Detroit. The D. U. R. Interurban service at your door. Cement walks, sewers, electric lights and water are a few of the improvements. Nothing remains to be asked for.

An Investment.
Natural gas and points to an increase in valuation. Desirable property is growing scarce. Low prices and liberal terms are offered you now. A visit to the property will convince you.

Remember—the opening date is April 12th—Saturday.

Your Soil Is Alive

O all intents and purposes, soil is alive. It breathes, works, rests; it drinks, and, most important of all, it feeds. It responds to good or bad treatment. It pays its debts with interest many times compounded. Being alive, to work it must be fed. During the non-growing seasons certain chemical changes take place which make the fertility in the soil available for next season's crop. But this process adds no plant food to the soil. Unless plant food is added to soil on which crops are grown, in time it starves. There is one best way to feed your soil. Stable manure, which contains all the essentials of plant life, should be spread evenly and in the proper quantity with an

I H C Manure Spreader

I H C manure spreaders are made in all styles and sizes. There are low machines which are not too low, but can be used in mud and deep snow, or in sloppy barnyards. They are made with either endless or reverse aprons. Frames are made of steel, braced and trussed like a steel bridge. Sizes run from small, narrow machines to machines of large capacity. The rear axle is placed well under the box, where it carries over 70 per cent of the load, insuring plenty of tractive power. Beaters are of large diameter to prevent winding. The teeth are square and chisel-pointed. The apron drive controls the load, insuring even spreading whether the machine is working up or down hill, or on the level. I H C spreaders have a rear axle differential, enabling them to spread evenly when turning corners.

I H C local dealers handling these machines will show you all their good points. Get literature and full information from them, or write
