

McCannell Tops Teeplees; Cairns, Nolan Victors

By DOUG JOHNSON
And MARY PADEN

As of 11 p.m. Tuesday, incumbent Township Supervisor Earl Teeplees had apparently been ousted by challenger Robert McCannell in the Republican primary.

McCannell was ahead, 2,163 to 1,962 for Teeplees, with all 22 precincts reporting.

The race for supervisor went down to the wire with north end precincts 3 and 16 being late to report.

Precinct 16 at Fairview Elementary School was late due to a power failure caused by lightning in Tuesday's day-long rain. Election workers counted votes by candlelight.

Incumbent Treasurer Thomas Nolan and Clerk Floyd Cairns easily won renomination in the GOP primary.

Teeplees was defeated after a single two-year term. As a police sergeant under fire from the township administration, he upset veteran Supervisor Curtis Hall in the 1970 primary.

McCannell rose to prominence as leader of the Future Farmington Assn., a group supporting cityhood. He currently is chairman of the Farmington Hills Charter Commission.

RESULTS OF OTHER races with 20 of 22 precincts in:

CLERK (REPUBLICAN)

Floyd Cairns (incumbent) 2,172.
Alia M. Prain 570.
Arthur Pusey 829.

TREASURER (REPUBLICAN)

Thomas Nolan (incumbent) 1,957.
Charles Foust 1,097.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE (REPUBLICAN) (two)

Fred Lichtman (incumbent) 1,636.
Margaret Schaeffer (incumbent) 1,650.
Steve Davidovich 826.
Joseph Teeplees 1,075.

Official totals will appear in the weekend edition of the Observer.

IN THE 64TH House race, on the Democratic side John Campbell of Farmington was leading Robert Leach of Southfield. Incumbent Rep. Ray Baker was unopposed for the GOP nomination.

And in that race in the 27th Oakland County Commission race, Farmington Mayor Wilbur Brotherton was far ahead of August Barbrick for the GOP nomination, 841-301 in the city and 374-200 in the township.

Results in the other county commission races affecting Farmington -- the 24th, 25th and 15th districts -- were too incomplete to report.

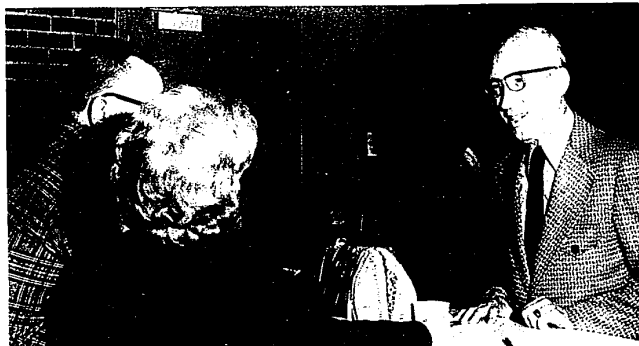

Final results were slow in Farmington Township, but some were tallied early by anxious township officials. Teeplees, Cairns and Nolan all stood to lose their jobs if they lost in the primary.

Automatically nominated on the Democratic side of the ticket were Joyce Hungerford for clerk, Catherine Vignone for treasurer and Maynard Gordon and Michael Zeglen for the two trustee slots. No Democrat filed for supervisor.

In the race for Congress, Martha W. Griffiths of Detroit was unopposed for the Democratic nomination; two men, Ralph Judd and Tom Klunzinger were seeking the GOP nod. That new district includes Farmington, Southfield, Redford and the northwest corner of Detroit and is considered at the very least marginally Democratic.

Results showed Judd with 467 votes and Klunzinger with 272 votes in the city.

Only 32 per cent of city voters turned out.

A HAPPY CLERK — Floyd Cairns, looks over Farmington Township returns showing him winning by a landslide over two challengers. Two other incumbents, Earl Teeplees and Thomas Nolan, were in much closer races. (Observer photo by Ralph Evert)

Today's hot line

Volume 83 Number 86

What's inside

Complaints

What can be done about the bad hill and curve on Farmington Rd. between Shiawassee and 10 Mile Rd.? Angry residents talk to the city council.

Page 6C

Golf Outing

Farmington and Southfield businessmen got together for the first time last Friday. We have picture coverage on

Page 6C

Housing Posters

How have area real estate firms responded to having fair housing laws posted in their offices? The Enterprise & Observer has the story, with a picture, on

Page 11B

British Visitors

Young men from England were in town recently to tour the area. Two Farmington families helped host them.

Page 9B

Lucky Baby

She is a little gal who lives in Redford and has grandparents in Farmington. But to meet her and find out why she's especially lucky, read our Women's Section.

Page 2C

All-Stars Win

The North Farmington-West Bloomfield Pony All-Stars won the state championship in the losers bracket and will now journey to Lafayette, Ind. for the regionals beginning Friday. For the complete story, see today's sport section.

Page 4B

Amusements	12-13B
Classified Want Ads	1-17D
Cooking, by Ely	15B
Deaths and Funerals	17B
Editorial Viewpoints	16B
Home and Garden	5-6B
Readers' Forum	17B
Sports—Prep and Pro	1-4B
Spotlight on Women	1-5C

Busing Success Will Be Topic

A group of Pontiac parents and teachers will discuss the desegregation program in Pontiac at a meeting of the Farmington-Claireville branch of the Metropolitan Coalition for Peaceful Integration on Aug. 9.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Farmington, 33112 Grand River.

Rev. James Sheehan, pastor of St. Vincent De Paul Church and vice president of Pontiac Concerned Clergy, will head the Pontiac group.

The group is not proposing specific busing plans, but it hopes to make desegregation a successful and peaceful experience.

All parents interested in joining the group may attend the Aug. 9 meeting.

City Council Votes 4-1 On Anti-Busing Motion

The Farmington City Council has voted 4-1 to adopt an anti-busing stance.

The move came during discussion Monday of various anti-busing resolutions received from other cities.

Councilman John Allen voted "no" on the measure, indicating that although he opposed busing, it was out of the city's power to do anything.

Most councilmen said they were reluctant to act on busing since it was up to the school districts and the courts to decide.

"THERE are a great many fears," Mayor Wilbur Brotherton said, "and we know what they are, because people come to us on zoning issues. We are aware of all kinds of fear. . . and this busing is the most personal of all, because it involves people's children."

Brotherton said that he had been asked by several constituents about where he stood on busing.

Councilman Allen said he didn't "like the concept of busing."

"I don't want a public anti-busing endorsement from us," he said, "and we should know what they are, because we feel individually and collectively. So we should declare ourselves in public."

John Richardson said he agreed, and that the council had no choice because "wrong triumphs when good people do nothing."

The first, a resolution from the City of Royal Oak, calls for strict rules for bus safety standards. Further, the resolution from Royal Oak asked for an amendment to the U.S. Constitution that would prohibit public money from being used for transportation "of school children for the purpose of promoting integration."

The councilmen received the resolution but declined to vote on it.

However, the second resolution -- one from the City of Wyandotte -- was adopted. It reads, in part: "Although busing does not fall within the jurisdiction of the city council (of Wyandotte), it is a general concern of everyone that the council should make their position known as public record."

It was this statement that drew a 4-1 vote Monday night. A third resolution that went even further in anti-busing sentiment was also received, but not voted upon.

That resolution, from the City of Berkley, notified neighboring suburbs that the council there had set aside $2,100 for legal costs in the fight against forced busing.

City Names New Clerk

The Farmington City Council has appointed a veteran executive secretary to replace retiring city clerk, Mrs. Elizabeth Brines.

The five-man council unanimously approved the appointment of Mrs. Nedra Viane to the post vacated a few weeks ago by Mrs. Brines.

Mrs. Viane has worked for the city for nearly 3½ years as secretary to the city manager. She first served John Dinan and, until Monday, current city manager, Robert Deadman.

She has one son, who works for National Bank of Detroit; her husband is employed by Northland Ford.

Before joining the city, she worked for Franklin Products (on Orchard Lake Rd.) for 10 years as a secretary to sales managers and engineers. Before that, she worked for an investment counseling firm in downtown Detroit.

The job is appointive under the city charter, and can be filled by anyone qualified.

Mrs. Viane lives at 29060 Marklawn in the township.

Her first big duty will be to learn election procedures. She did not have to immediately take charge of yesterday's primary election; that had been done well before her appointment Monday night.

However, she will have to direct her attention to the November election.

Mrs. Brines, the former clerk took office in 1968. When she quit she indicated she wanted to stay at home and "spend some time with her family."

The post has an annual salary of $10,000 to $11,000, depending on years of service.

to ally any fears about how we feel individually and collectively. So we should declare ourselves in public."

John Richardson said he agreed, and that the council had no choice because "wrong triumphs when good people do nothing."

The councilmen received the resolution but declined to vote on it.

However, the second resolution -- one from the City of Wyandotte -- was adopted. It reads, in part: "Although busing does not fall within the jurisdiction of the city council (of Wyandotte), it is a general concern of everyone that the council should make their position known as public record."

It was this statement that drew a 4-1 vote Monday night. A third resolution that went even further in anti-busing sentiment was also received, but not voted upon.

That resolution, from the City of Berkley, notified neighboring suburbs that the council there had set aside $2,100 for legal costs in the fight against forced busing.

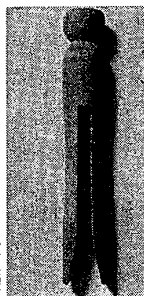

However, she will have to direct her attention to the November election.

Mrs. Brines, the former clerk took office in 1968. When she quit she indicated she wanted to stay at home and "spend some time with her family."

The post has an annual salary of $10,000 to $11,000, depending on years of service.

Continued on Page 4A

homemakers

agree...there's an easy and profitable way to clean out closets, cupboards, basements, attics and garages!

When you collect a group of still useful items that the family has lost interest in...sell them with a fast-acting low-cost OBSERVER WANT AD!

Dialing 522-0900 will connect you with a friendly Ad Taker and you're on your way to a less cluttered home and a fuller wallet.

MRS. NEDRA VIANE