

BOOZE

Centuries ago Dioscorus wrote "Drunkenness is a disease of both body and soul, requiring proper remedies to overcome." He was right. Today physicians and students of the subject agree that men who drink are forced to it by their diseased condition, caused by alcoholic poisons in their systems. Years ago Dr. Benjamin F. Neal, recognizing this fact, originated the treatment now bearing his name, which has proven so successful that it justifies this guarantee: Satisfy us of your ability to pay, then pay when satisfied. Call, phone or write for free booklet, A, mailed in plain, sealed envelope.

DAIRY FACTS

ALKALI WATER NOT HARMFUL

Results Obtained in Experiments Conducted by Dairy Department of South Dakota College.

The dairy husbandry department of the South Dakota State college has conducted experiments to determine the effect of alkali water on dairy cattle. The results of these experiments, as published in station bulletin 147, show that the drinking of alkali water by dairy cows did not produce "alkali disease" or even the slightest indication of it.

The postmortem examination and analysis of the vital organs of the cows used in the experiments revealed nothing abnormal. Considering the fact that the strongest alkali well water was used it is reasonable to conclude that the alkali disease of cows is not produced by drinking alkali water.

Fine Yard and House for Cows.

This conclusion does not include water which at times collects in partly dried-up ponds.

Such water is usually very strong and cows should not be permitted to become so thirsty as to be forced to drink it.

IMPORTANT ARTICLE OF FOOD

Butter in Three-Times-a-Day Necessity on Tables—Cleanliness is Great Essential.

Good butter, next to good bread, is the most important article of food, and as it is a three-times-a-day necessity on our tables, its proper making is of great importance. Successful butter-making depends most of all on cleanliness of stables, cows, milkers and pails, along with a clean, well-ventilated dairy room and utensils. Everyone needs fat, and butter is the most wholesome as well as most agreeable way of taking it into the system.

Cream absorbs whatever odor surrounds it and then passes it on to the butter, so milk should not be kept in the kitchen where cooking is done, and especially if the men of the family have the habit of smoking there, as this gives it a very disagreeable taste. Butter made from well-strained cream has the best flavor, and to obtain this ripening before the cream is so old as to become rancid, a "starter" of a quart to make a temperature in the tablespoonful or two of this milk when set to rouse.

Butter churned from perfectly sweet cream has less flavor, but some people prefer it. It is a mistake to churn butter at too high a temperature in the kitchen where cooking is done, and especially if the men of the family have the habit of smoking there, as this gives it a very disagreeable taste. Butter made from well-strained cream has the best flavor, and to obtain this ripening before the cream is so old as to become rancid, a "starter" of a quart to make a temperature in the tablespoonful or two of this milk when set to rouse.

KEEP DAIRY UTENSILS CLEAN

Steam Can be Utilized Effectively in Washing Different Vessels—Keep Covers Off.

Always have some good stiff brushes that will fit the different utensils and keep the seams in the tin absolutely clean. If one has steam it may be used very effectively in sterilizing the utensils. After rinsing in scalding water, after sterilization with steam, place the utensils in a clean, sunny place to dry. Do not wipe them with a cloth or stand them right side up on the racks. The heat imparted by the hot water or steam will cause them to dry quickly and by being placed bottom side up on the racks very little dust and dirt can get on the inside of the utensils. Never put the covers on the utensils. Never put the covers on the cans or pails after washing them. There are few more orders than a fairly clean milk can that has been put up until it has become musty.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. Smith, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR AUGUST 13

THE GRACE OF LIVING.

LESSON TEXT—II Cor. 3. GOLDEN TEXT—In all things I gave you an example, that so laboring ye might win the rest, and that to conquer the words of the Lord Jesus, that he himself said, it is more blessed to give than to receive—Acts 20:35.

Paul's letters to the church in Corinth are a divine commentary upon church government. A stricter adherence to the principles enumerated and a deeper interpretation of those principles to the church of Jesus Christ would save us from many errors and heartaches. In this rich and populous lesson the lesson for consideration is the danger attending the early Christianization of the Jewish and Gentile believers. One party suggested that the Gentiles ought to have a closer union with the Jews; on the other hand, certain Gentiles could not see the necessity of the Jewish ceremonial, and in this Paul agreed with them, and therefore they refused to assume any unnecessary burden. The great question at Jerusalem was crowded with pilgrims, both Jews and Jewish Christians. The pilgrims were often very poor, and fatigue must have fostered diseases. Here then was a place where a work of ministry to the needy had to be done with the money which had been systematically gathered through the weekly contributions of Christian believers. Note how skillfully Paul appealed to the conscience of his hearers. He recognizes their forwardness of mind and their zeal (vv. 1 and 2, Am. R.). Most delicately does he compliment them upon their work, for, said he, "I glory in your behalf."

He desired their collections to be a matter of bounty, and not of covetousness or extortion. Paul's principle of giving is that it shall be a matter of covetousness, not a matter of pride. He says that they who sow sparingly shall reap sparingly.

11. The Results of Giving (vv. 8-15). The law of reaping and sowing in proportion to the quantity and quality of the seed sown is also to be supplemented by the law of the necessity of sowing of the sower and of the sowing of the sower. The law of the sower and of the sowing of the sower is also to be supplemented by the law of the necessity of sowing of the sower and of the sowing of the sower.

12. The Results of Giving (vv. 16-22). One theme was in town, and on a prominent corner Bunko Pete was trying to "hullate an old farmer into the mysteries of the three-shell game."

"Here, you," exclaimed a policeman who happened along just then; "don't sure that the measure of grace that we receive than our penurious, niggardly giving (Phil. 4:10 and context). This giving of grace is "in order that ye always have an abundance left."

God's abundant grace is bestowed upon that which we may work for ourselves, and which we may indeed live in everything. Here, too, indeed our lives must appear when measured by the standard of this verse. Literally this is "hilarious giving." God loves the full-souled, hilarious giver who gives time and money. Such giving is like unto God's giving, who gave his only begotten son. If we sow as God provides, he will multiply the seed for sowing and increase the fruits of our righteousness. If we do not sow, he will cease to supply.

This liberality will work through us to others and thanksgiving to God on the part of those who receive (v. 11, R. V.). Such giving abounds to his honor and glory through the many thanksgivings which it will occasion (Heb. 13:15). The more we give, the more God will increase our power to give, and in this way we will be enriched in everything unto all liberality (Prov. 11:24-29). The church in Jerusalem, when the saints of Corinth had given proof by the ministrations to their need, would glorify God for the obedience of the saints in Corinth and their contribution to the liberality of their contribution unto them (v. 13, R. V.). They would repay their generosity with prayer (v. 14, R. V.) and they would long after which was in them.

Paul's words about our giving with thanksgiving to God for his unspeakable gift—(See Ch. 8:10) Jesus Christ (John 3:16; Rom. 8:32)—is an exhortation to us. Nothing should so move us to give to others as the thought of what God has given of his very best and dearest for us. The Sunday school, as the training school of the church, ought to give instruction not alone in salvation truth and life teaching, but also in systematic giving. Train the children early in the substance, and they will learn to love it and support it in the years to come. Persistent practice is the secret of mastery here as in everything else. We say: "When a rich man dies he leaves all his wealth behind him." True, but it is also true that we change into the currency of the country to which we are going the gifts which we have given here.

Ribbon "White Elephant"

Three yards of silk ribbon are the latest craze and the conscience fund. And thereby a great problem as to how to cover the value into the United States treasury has arisen. The contribution seems something of a white elephant, the Washington Star says.

Probably the ribbon will be sold to the highest bidder at public auction and the amount realized covered into the treasury. The value of the ribbon cannot be judged and the prospective amount of the credit to the conscience fund cannot be established. The ribbon is about four inches wide, variegated and of exquisite heavy quality.

The envelope containing the ribbon was postmarked Paterson, N. J. There was no message attached, the package being addressed simply to "The Conscience Fund, Washington, D. C." It is presumed that the ribbon itself was smuggled in and is now surrendered.

Somehow Different.

The circus was in town, and on a prominent corner Bunko Pete was trying to "hullate an old farmer into the mysteries of the three-shell game."

"Here, you," exclaimed a policeman who happened along just then; "don't sure that the measure of grace that we receive than our penurious, niggardly giving (Phil. 4:10 and context). This giving of grace is "in order that ye always have an abundance left."

Three Words To Your Grocer—

will bring a package of breakfast flakes with a delicious new corn flavour—flakes that don't mush down when milk or cream is added, nor are they "chafy" in the package like the ordinary kind.

These New Post Toasties are manufactured by a new process using quick, intense heat which raises tiny bubbles over each flake, the distinguishing characteristic. And the new process also brings out a new corn flavour, never tasted in corn flakes of the past.

Try a handful dry—they're good this way and the test will reveal their superior flavour. But they're usually served with milk or cream.
