PAY HIGH FOR THEIR FUN

Detroit Party in Drunken Row at Walled Lake Sunday Night.

A party of seven young fellows from Detroit went to Walled Lake Sunday night with a load of booze in an old Ford for a "high old time," and according to reports and the appearance of Marshall George Francis' eye, they had it.

Five of the party rented a boat of Frank Pratt and went out on the lake, the other two, one the driver of the machine, remaining on shore, and were not mixed up in the melee that followed later.

After being out for some time the party lost its car, and rowing to the dock proceeded to make the loss good by taking an car from one of the boats at the dock. This was objected to by Mr. Pratt and a heated argument ensued, in which Mr. Pratt ordered the party to leave the premises. This they objected to unless their money was returned, and became very abusive.

Mr. Pratt sent for Marshall Francis whose cottage is only a short distance from the Pratt residence, who went over and told the men they had better vacate and save trouble, when one of the party, who gave his name as John Ward, made an insulting remark and struck at Mr. Francis with a flash light. The blow was warded off, and Ward knocked to the ground, whereupon the others made for Mr. Francis, Jay Cramer, who also carried a flash light, aiming a heavy blow at him which struck his left arm making it black and blue and grazed his left eye, cutting a gash in the eyelid and bruising the eye.

In the meantime Mrs. Pratt hearing the scuffle ran out with a broom and struck one of the fellows Arthur Cramer across the face with the broomhandle, whereupon he turned and struck her on the side of the face with his fist, knocking her down, so the story goes.

Mr. Francis made short work with Cramer and sent him sprawling to the ground where he lay senseless for some time. His companions picked him up, made for their machine and started for the city, using the most abusive language possible to utter.

Mr. Francis telephoned to Deputy Sheriff William Goers, describing the outfit and giving their license number.

Mr. Goers, who was at Redford at the time waited for the arrival of the party, where he stood in the road and signalled them to stop at the point of a gun, which they made haste to do, remarking "Is all up boys, they've got us."

The five were handcuffed and started on their trip to the Pontiac jail. At the Junction three other men were taken in for drunkenness and disorderly conduct on the cars, and the whole gang landed in jail, where they remained until Monday morning, when they were brought to this village and taken before Justice Thayer.

The three taken from the car, Frank Shuler, Martin Kochling and Maurice Hockey, were first called up, all pleading guilty. Shuler and Kochling were fined $10 and $5 costs each, while Hockey's sentence was suspended upon the payment of $25 costs, with the alternative of spending 30 days in the county jail. They took the latter, and were taken to Pontiac Monday afternoon and committed to jail. Later Kochling's fine was paid.

The Walled Lake party were next called before the justice, giving their names as John Ward, Arthur Rosin, George Rover, Jay Cramer and J. W. Sanderson, all of Detroit, and pleading guilty to the charge of assault and battery, preferred by Frank Pratt.

Justice Thayer imposed a fine of $75 and $5 costs upon each, or the alternative of spending 30 days in jail.

Friends of Rosin paid his fine and he was allowed to go, while the others were taken to the village lockup until they could get word to friends in the city.

About 6 o'clock the other five were paid and the party boarded a car for Detroit, where it is hoped they will stay hereafter when they are looking for trouble.

Bigelow-Jones

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jones on Wednesday afternoon, the 30th inst., when their daughter, Alice, was united in marriage to Dufiled Bigelow, of West Bloomfield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. R. Stevenson of this village, in the presence of about 125 relatives and neighbors.

Miss Mona Gow played the wedding march; the bride party, consisting of the bride and groom, Miss Mildred Adams and Miss Viola Kreeger as bridesmaids, and Willard Beattie and Leland Johnson actings best men, with Margaret Beattie as flower girl and Heine Strong ring bearer, marched into the sitting room and through a gate slightly ajar, where the happy couple were made one.

The decorations were simple and plain, but very pretty, consisting of white and green.

After congratulations and best wishes of the friends, and a half hour of very pleasant social intercourse the guests were served to a most sumptuous repast, consisting of all the inner man could desire.

The presents were many, beautiful and useful, and the bride party have gone to Buffalo, Niagara Falls and other eastern points for their honeymoon.

The Enterprise, in behalf of their many friends in this vicinity wishes Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow many happy and prosperous years of married life.

Wolfe-Smith.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of George E. Gallon in Detroit last Thursday, August 24th, when he joined in matrimony Harry Stanley Wolfe and Irene Josephine Smith, both of Livonia township.

They were attended by George Kraum and Alice Wagonstich, of Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe are well known and highly respected young people of this vicinity, and have the well wishes of their many friends for a happy and prosperous wedded life, in which the Enterprise heartily joins.

Assault and Battery Case.

Last Monday the sequel to a long standing quarrel culminated in the "beating up" of Mark Preston, by Tony Tibideau.

According to Preston's story, who is his own plan, Tibideau came to his place along the Creek, crawled through the fence and jumped onto him, knocking him to the ground and kicking him in the face and head.

Preston swore out a warrant and Tibideau, who is a young man of heavy build, was arrested and taken before Justice Thayer. The hearing was set for next Tuesday, Tibideau being released on a $200 bail.

AN EXCITING HONEYMOON

Harry Wolf and Bride Will Long Remember Their Bridal Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolf, who were married last Thursday, decided to take a trip to Niagara Falls for their honeymoon. Arriving there on Friday, they had occasion to run up to Buffalo Saturday morning, where they secured a room and Mr. Wolf left his wife and went out to see about transportation home Sunday morning.

Arriving at the ticket office and taking out his money to pay for tickets, he was grabbed by a rough looking individual, who upon Harry "let go at him" and sent him sprawling on the ground and proceeded to hold him there, at the same time calling to a policeman.

Upon letting the fellow up he claimed to be a detective, and that young Wolf was "wanted." He was taken to the police station and locked up, despite his protestations of innocence, and a request to be taken to his wife at their boarding place, where his innocence could be proven. He declares they would not listen to anything he said.

According to the story told by both Wolf and wife, she was not even notified of what had happened, and did not learn of his arrest until about the time of his release. Monday afternoon, when he was taken to the police court for a hearing.

In the meantime Mrs. Wolf telegraphed her parents here, and Earl Wolf started for Buffalo, arriving there about 15 minutes after the release of his brother.

Mrs. Wolf and friends here were kept in a terrible state of suspense, not being able to learn anything of Harry's whereabouts, although the aid of the police department of Detroit, as well as Buffalo was sought in an effort to locate him.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolf's bridal trip will long be remembered by them, and one they would not care to have repeated.

The Enterprise, together with their many friends in this vicinity, where they are well and favorably known, wishes them a more pleasant journey through the remainder of their married life.

William Baile

William Baile, a respected German citizen, died at his home in this village Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. He had suffered a great deal for the past six weeks, and was only relieved when death came. It is thought that the extreme heat was the beginning of his sickness.

He was born in Germany October 26, 1856, and came to this country 41 years ago, and seven years ago built his home here on Rogers street. His wife survives him.

The funeral will be held today (Friday) at 1 o'clock from the house, with Rev. A. C. Stange officiating. Burial will be at Clarenceville cemetery.

ONE OF THE PIONEERS

Mrs. Emma Wilber Died Suddenly of Apoplexy—Had Spent Her Life in This Village.

In the death of Mrs. Emma Wilber our community has lost a loved and valued friend. A long and valued life was ended when she passed away at her home on Grand River avenue Monday evening, August 28, 1916.

Emma Warner-Wilber was born in Farmington on October 8, 1838, her father, Seth A. L. Warner, having been one of the pioneers of the town. Her entire life was passed in Farmington, with the exception of about six years, during which time she was studying at the Ypsilanti Normal school.

During the year 1859 and 1860 Miss Warner was a teacher in the public schools at Farmington, together with James Wilber, whom she married in the following year.

Mrs. Wilber is survived by a son, Clinton Wilber, of Farmington, daughter, Mrs. Elos Wells, of Wenatchee, Washington; a sister, Mrs. Minnie Wilber, of Farmington, and a brother, LaMoine Warner, of Alpena. Her husband, James L. Wilber, passed away just four years ago, and an elder brother, P. Dean Warner, in 1910.

Mrs. Wilber's religious life began in Ypsilanti, at the early age of 16, when she joined the Baptist church to which institution she has devoted herself with unflinching zeal during her long life.

She was a charter member of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Wayne Baptist association, organized in 1877. For a number of years she served this organization as its secretary, and for 18 years she was its valued president, having retired only one year before her death.

Of her active interest in affairs civic, educational and literary all her friends know full well. Up to the very day of her death she was engaged in compiling a complete register of the faculties of the local school from its inception in 1835 to the close of the school year of 1915 and 1916. Through conferences and an extended correspondence this, her last public work, is well accomplished, and thus fittingly ends a life marked with unswerving loyalty and devotion to the community, her church, her friends and her home.

Her life of long and service leaves its lasting influence for all who knew her.

Of such are "Those immortal dead who live again in minds made better by their presence."

The funeral services were held from the Baptist church in this village Thursday afternoon, Rev. F. A. Brass of Northville officiating, and the remains laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery.

Mrs. Phelps visited at Frank Tanner's in Pontiac Wednesday and Thursday.

John Shear and wife entertained their parents Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. All, Travis, her father and mother and Charles Shear and wife; also S. A. Leary, wife and children and Fred Burt and wife, all of New Hudson.

William Keeney and wife attended the Shurt family reunion at Prospect Park in Ypsilanti last Saturday, about 75 people were present. Refreshments were served and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

Word comes to us Thursday of the death of Mariette Daines, wife of William T. Daines, who passed away at her home in this village Wednesday night at 10 o'clock. The funeral will be held at the late home Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Rev. G. E. Gullen, of Detroit, officiating. Mrs. Daines was born in Farmington January 15, 1838.
