LANSING -- Twenty persons were killed in automobile accidents and nine others drowned in Michigan during the weekend. Included in the water deaths was Joseph Wegman, 15, of Dearborn, who drowned in the Huron River, Oakland County, during an attempt to rescue a young girl who managed to save herself.

YPSILANTI -- William C. Hornberger, a 28-year-old journeyman electrician, died from electrocution during a maintenance job at the Ford Motor Co. Plant in Ypsilanti.

Jim Tennant, head of security and safety at the plant since 1965, told police the accident happened in the annex building's shaft jobs annex.

Hornberger, who had been employed at the plant since 1965, was performing a routine job at the time, reports said.

LANSING -- Michigan Secretary of State James M. Hare has announced his support of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic party's presidential nomination.

"Of all the candidates," Hare said, "Vice President Humphrey is best qualified by experience, judgment, and temperament to guide America through the trying years ahead."

YPSILANTI -- Preliminary figures show a summer enrollment of more than 7,000 undergraduate and graduate students at Eastern Michigan University, according to Dean Julius M. Robinson.

This figure is 12 per cent higher than last summer and the highest in the history of the university, Robinson reported.

ANN ARBOR -- Troy L. Rutman, 37, of Dearborn Heights, who won the 500-mile race at Indianapolis 16 years ago, has been found guilty by a months ago by Ann Arbor City Patrolman Jerry Wright who said he clocked Rutman's small, foreign-made car at 55 miles an hour in a 24-mile zone.

Judge S.J. Elden ordered Rutman to pay fine and court costs of $140.

LANSING -- Only 52 of Michigan's municipal courts will continue to exist after next Jan. 1, nearly all of them in Detroit suburbs, according to a house judiciary committee study.

Sixty-nine other municipal courts will be abolished under the lower court reorganization act, signed into law last week by Gov. Romney. They will be replaced by a new state-wide system of district courts.

While 43 municipal courts were eliminated automatically by the long-fought bill, the fate of 56 others was left to local governmental action.

Detroit is exempt entirely from the provisions of the new lower court act.

DETROIT -- Detroit police who searched for a prowler who stabbed two young sisters to death Monday in the early morning darkness in their east-side home.

Police identified the victims as Nora Gutley, 11, and her twin sister, DeAnna.

LANSING -- Gov. George Romney has vetoed a bill which would have given most legislators exemption from Lansing's new city income tax, stating that the Legislature had "unintentionally given preferential treatment to some of its members."

Romney suggested that legislators come up with new legislation next year to clarify the problem for those members who are already paying an income tax in their home districts.

LANSING -- Lansing led all other Michigan cities in per capita retail sales in the 1967 fiscal year while reaching a record $44,204,300 in total sales to rank fourth among municipalities.

Lansing's local retail sales averaged $100.37 per capita which was $22.89 above the state average.

YPSILANTI -- The Ypsilanti Press has been sold by Booth Newspapers, Inc. to Panax Corporation. The announcement of the sale was announced jointly by Gordon Craig, Booth president, and John P. McCall, president of Panax. Change of ownership became effective immediately.

In making the announcement, Craig stressed that the sale was made most reluctantly and was prompted by an anti-trust investigation by the U.S. Department of Justice.

The government inquiry, begun in July of 1967, was to ascertain whether ownership of both the Press and Ann Arbor News by Booth constituted a monopoly of the daily newspaper market in Washtenaw County.

DETROIT -- Five men from southeastern Michigan have been arraigned in Detroit before U.S. District Court Judge Thomas P. Thornton on charges of refusing induction into the U.S. Armed services.

LANSING -- Jerry L. Suratek of Holt, learned in Municipal Court that pennies are not acceptable for payment of fines in Lansing.

A ticket had been placed on the Suratek family car for parking at an expired meter. When Suratek attempted to pay the fine by sending 200 pennies in the "postage paid" envelope that accompanied the ticket, he was arrested.

At Suratek's trial in Municipal Court before Judge George K. Stowell, Assistant City Attorney Terrance Clem explained that U.S. Federal Reserve Board rules and a Michigan law hold that pennies and nickels are not "legal tender" for amounts over 25 cents.

The judge fined Suratek $3 and charged him $25 court costs. The alternative, he said, would be 10 days in jail.

LANSING -- Most workers will hardly feel the impact of Lansing's city income tax which went into effect Monday.

The one per cent tax on the net income of residents and one-half per cent levy on earnings of nonresidents working in Lansing will be withheld in bite-size chunks by employers in most cases.

No one knows yet how many income taxpayers the city will have or how much the yield will be, but city officials estimate the tax will bring in slight-
