Voters back millage

Carenorville School District voters approved a 16-year renewal of an 11-mill property tax in an election Monday.

The final vote was 419 to 74 while less than 16-per cent of the district's 4,164 voters casting ballots.

But despite the low turnout, the results were gratifying, commented Sup. David McDowell.

"WE TOLD THE story the best we knew how through the media-your mempagers—and our newsletter." We set three meetings with PTAs, but were snowed out lits the least amount of regular votes we've ever had any probably as good a turnout as amount of regular votes we've ever had any probably as good a turnout as the same third with the sum of the schools." The state had especially for a leot that want tied to a board election." The state had been summed to a board election with the state of the schools. The state had supported to a board election. The state had supported to a board election. The state had supported to a board election. The state has promoted to pay 108 per gent of the 1976-77 school year state algorithms to make up for other state money cuts.

After cutting such things as athlet-ics, busing, all extra curricular activi-ties and still winding up $600,000 short, Frisk noid the audience respond-ed. "We get the message."

McDowell said there was no opposi-tion to the millage that he knew of and that there was "no but organiza-tional campaign" to promote the retonal campaign to promote the re-newal.

The administration met with school employes and explained that the pro-posal is just a tax renewal McDowell said the "no" votes Mon

McDowell said the "no" votes Mon day were the least amount of negative votes in a Clarenceville election "and probably as good a turnus we've ever had—especially one that warn't teel to a school board election." He pointed out that voters historically have been "very good about sup-porting schools and the school board has kept faith in levying only (the mil-lage) that was necessary."
