Mercy offers courses
Beginning the week of Feb. 22, the Mercy Center, 28000 W. Eleven Mile Road in Farmington Hills, will offer eight non-credit continuing education courses. Each course is worth one continuing education unit (CEU), a nationally recognized measurement which represents 10 hours of instruction. Mercy College of Detroit will keep records of participants and will issue certificates to those completing the courses.
Positive parenting is scheduled for six Monday nights beginning Feb. 22. Introduction to computer programming will provide practical instruction and experience for five Tuesday nights.
Law for the lay person, a wealth of legal information will be available for five Monday evening sessions.
Survival as a Christian in the executive jungle, running for five Tuesday evenings, is an opportunity for those working in corporate structures to study and discuss Christian values.
Alternative eating will deal with the basics of good nutrition, popular diets and junk food on Monday nights. Approaches to prayer will deal with the various aspects of prayer and also meet on Monday nights.
Parapsychology, ESP and poltergeist will deal with the fascinating phenomena which falls outside of man's reasoning power.
Practical gardening indoors and out will give instruction on the growing of orchids and houseplants in relationship to soil and light factors.
Registration may be completed by either writing or calling Sister Gertrude at the Mercy Center 478-0010, by Feb. 20.
