

Heading for warm weather? plan a detour around Cincncy

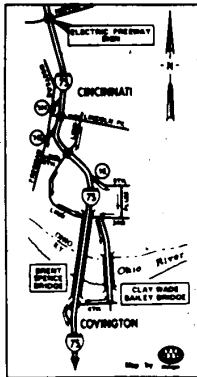

Michigan motorists headed for the sunny South via I-75 should add an hour's driving time if they are planning to cross the Ohio River at Cincinnati between 1:30 p.m. on Fridays or the first day of holiday periods. The delay between Cincinnati, Ohio and Covington, Ky. is caused by the Brent Spence Double Deck Bridge which is inadequate to handle peak traffic, the Automobile Club of Michigan says.

Southbound I-75 motorists are advised by Auto Club to use a trail-blazed alternate route through Cincinnati to avoid being stranded in a slow-moving traffic jam often extending north for three miles.

Third Street which connects with the Bayly Bridge. After crossing that bridge, the route follows westbound W. Fourth Street to I-75. The entire alternate route is two miles long.

The IG exit is for I-75 motorists in the right lane who travel via southbound Freeway Avenue to eastbound Eighth Street and southbound Linn Street where the route joins traffic from the I-75 exit.

The IE exit is for motorists in the left lane and travels via eastbound Fifth Street, southbound Plum Street and westbound Third where it joins the two above routes.

NORTHBOUND I-75 motorists who plan to cross the Spence Bridge from Covington between 3:7 p.m. on Sundays or the final day of holiday periods face up to 1 1/2-mile backups and half-hour delays. Auto Club does not recommend a detour for northbound traffic since the alternate route is unmarked, complex and will not result in a time savings.

Congestion on the I-75 Spence Bridge is expected to ease in late 1977 with the completion of I-75 which includes a new bridge west of Cincinnati over the Ohio River. Southbound I-75 motorists could use the new bridge as an alternate route.

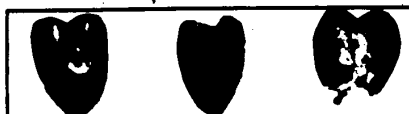

AN ELECTRIC sign two miles north of the first of three alternate route exits is located at the Hopple Street interchange and is activated when traffic conditions warrant.

The backup occurs when afternoon factory traffic and early evening entertainment and sporting events gear coverage with southbound tourist traffic at the bridge.

Although there are three bridge lanes in each direction, I-75 motorists headed south of Covington are squeezed into one lane. The right lane is used by traffic exiting at Fifth Street to Covington with the left lane used by motorists merging from I-71.

THOSE USING the alternate route can exit I-75 at three points above the Spence Bridge and reconnect with I-75 in Covington after crossing the Ohio River via the Clay Wade Bailey Bridge. The three exits (north to south) are marked IG, IE, and IF.

The IF exit is via southbound Western Avenue, eastbound Lincoln Park Drive, southbound Linn Street and eastbound

Hi! May we have your attention, please? The OAKLAND HUMANE SOCIETY urgently needs your help in providing food and shelter for homeless dogs and cats until new loving homes can be found for them. Would you "have a heart" and put just $1.00 in an envelope and send it to them today. Thank you. We love you (Clip & Mail)

Pilot's class off ground

Wayne State University College of Life-Long Learning will offer a 12-week course in aviation called "From the Ground Up" beginning April 1.

The course will provide ground school training needed to qualify for a Federal Aviation Administration pilot's license. Airplane systems and instruments, principles of flight, navigation, aviation weather and FAA regulations will be covered.

Classes will meet Thursday from 6:30-10 p.m. at the McGraw-Hill Conference Center on the WSU campus. A fee of $135 covers tuition, materials, coffee and certification costs.

Early registration is suggested because of enrollment limits. Interested parties should contact Irene Elam, Conferences and Institutes, McGraw-Hill Center, Wayne State University, Detroit 48202.

Customs auction planned March 18

Seized, abandoned and unclaimed merchandise from foreign countries will go on the block at 9:00 a.m. March 18 at the U.S. Customs House.

The public can view the goods beginning at 8:30 a.m. at U.S. Customs, Detroit Harbor Terminal, 441 W. Jefferson at the foot of Clark in Detroit. Catalogues will be available only on the day of sale.

Articles going to the highest bidder range from clothing to steel and include household goods, jewelry, liquor, cigarettes and machinery parts.

State Liquor Control Commission personnel will collect state markup taxes on alcoholic beverages and cigarettes at the sale.
