JACK GARCIA, a candidate in the June 9 board elections, spoke against the paving from the audience, "I think the money should go to buy textbooks," he said.

Richard Frankel, another candidate, pointed out that the $5,997 price tag might not be applicable to parking lots at their schools, Herbert Neal, board member, had suggested the board pave all school parking lots.

The motion to pave Wood Creek carried 4-2. Bloomberg and Gary Lichtmann dissented and LeLand Clifford was ab-sent, Four votes were needed,

THE BOARD also allotted money for new administrative staff cars but deleted power steering from the list of accessories after a debate on whether of not power steering in was a luxury, Mrs. Pat Sinith and Washburn-alded with power steering on the basis it was necessary for women drivers, but the vote went 4-2 against the vote went 4-2 against
