There's a redwood grade for every job and every budget.

California redwood is renowned for appearance and performance and for its wide variety of grades and uses.

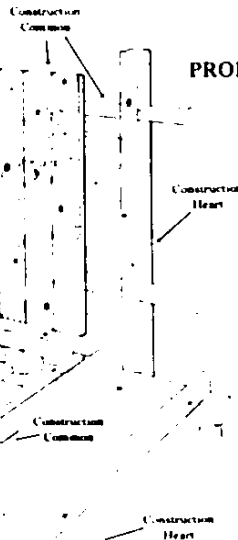

The upper grades Clear All Heart and Clear are knot free and are available kiln dried. They are primarily used for siding and paneling and are noted for exceptional dimensional stability and for their effectiveness where a flawless appearance and tight joints are required. For certain types of architectural decks or to match the siding of a house, these grades will give the best results.

Garden Grades

When you select redwood garden grades for your deck or fence, you get a natural textured appearance that seems to belong in the outdoors, and you get it for a practical, down-to-earth price.

Economical garden grades Construction Heart, Construction Common and Merchantable contain knots and are not kiln dried, but will give you the rustic beauty, weatherability, and dimensional stability that only redwood can provide.

For any ground touching application choose redwood heartwood (Construction Heart) which is resistant to decay and insects for deck boards, fence boards, steps, and other deck applications. Construction Common and Merchantable will provide wear surface and is at a less than luxury price.
