

Kids make hay

City kids make hay while the sun shines at Upland Hills Farm Day Camp. A chance to sample the rural life combined with all other kinds of camp activities will be sponsored this summer by the Farmington Community Center. Information about the program is available, phone 477-8404.

Two part event set for Hadassah

A Donor Brunch and the election and installation of new officers will both be part of Hadassah's meeting on Tuesday, June 1 at Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield. According to Mrs. Peter A. Martin, president of the 18-chapter group which represents almost 6500 members, the brunch will begin at 11 a.m. and the election at 12:30 p.m.

By invitation only, the Donor Brunch is for those members who have accumulated or contributed $100 or more, over and

Donors have worked in the Thrift Shop, cleared Jewish National Fund Boxes, sold New Year's cards, or participated in fund-raising telethons. There is a charge for the brunch and reservations must be made in advance.

Mrs. Emanuel Sarko is Donor Day chairman and Mrs. Richard Ruzsbal is chairman of donor records. Others working on the committee for the morning program are Mrs. Jay Robinson, vice president of fund raising, and Mrs. Russell Merkin, chairman of the Thrift Shop. Mrs. Max Lichter will give the invocation and there will be a Thrift Shop fashion show during the luncheon hour. "In Celebration" is the theme of the day. The afternoon activities will begin with coffee and cake at 12:30 p.m.

Following the election and installation proceedings, a program featuring Joseph Bach will be presented. Bach is frequently identified as a "young Jan. I'vee." He will be accompanied at the piano by Bernard Katz.

His selections will include Yiddish folk songs, Israeli songs, opera and semi-classical numbers.

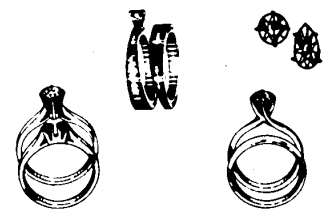

MRS. EMANUEL SARKO

"This will be a happy afternoon, people, lively and with audience participation," said Mrs. Jack Perlman, Mrs. Ray Raphael and Mrs. Jack Solway. For more information, phone the Hadassah office.

Women's club aids students

Paul Y. Kadish, chairperson of Schoolcraft College's board of trustees, happily accepts a check to be used for short-term loans for Schoolcraft students. Gift givers are the Schoolcraft College Women's club. Presenting the $1,000 donation are Mrs. Juanita Diebel ((left), president of the club, and Mrs. Iva Ryan, vice-president.
