The CitiCar is coming—at under $3,000. The non-polluting electric car can go 40-50 is on a charge, and has a top speed of 35 m.p.h.

Plug it and leave it

If you want to hum to work, roll into Tamarofi Bulck-Opel and look over the CitiCar. The electric CitiCar should be delivered to the Southfield dealership before July 15. The CitiCar base price is $2.988, but options such as a rally stripes, tinted glass and eigar lighter are available.

Spark plugs, water pumps, pistons and transmis-ons are not available. The car doesn't have any

THE CITICAR, a two-passenger, multi-purpose vehicle, is a non-polluting electric car that has a top speed of 38 miles per hour and has a maximum range of 40-50 miles per charge 100 miles per day with intermittent chargings. It can be plugged into any standard 110-volt household outlet for an overnight recharge, and in the morning be ready to perform a day's work.

It is being promoted as a second car for the family and for hundreds of other uses within towns, cities and metropolitan areas. The battery powered are is independent of the available supply of gasoine: The car has 12 cubic feet of storage space behind the seats. The CitiCar came onto the market in 1874. Since then, 2000 CitiCars have been mass-produced at the Florida factory. It has full doors, sliding side windows, and improved door hardware. The thirmotor's heater-defenser system allows operation in Michigan cold.

A TOUGH, impact-resistant plastic material is used for the body of the CHICAT. The CHICAT is sentially instreoof and cornosion-resistant. With a rectangular aluminum chassis and tubular aluminum body support, it weighs in at 1300 pounds These features, together with steel beams, rugged

THE CITICAR will go about 35 miles on 1 kWil of electricity. Translated into fuel consumption at the power plant where the electricity generated. The CitiCar gets 258 miles on one gallon of crude oil rand an assortment of coal, hydroclectric and nuclear power, weighted nationally. CitiCar is primarily intended as a commuter and cerand-ranning car for families wishing to save money on gas, oil, and automobile maintenance CitiCar is easy to drive and park and the cost of battery recharging is one event per mile citiCar is no of the better buys in the car market today, and in these days of rising costs of gasoline and auto repairs. Sebring Vanquard believes CitiCar is "a better way to go" for a good part of American driving.

National Sales Offices for the distribution of the CitiCar have been established at Sebring Industrial Park, Sebring, Florida Robert L. Balfour. Director of Marketing, and his staff are handing sales on a nationwide scale. The National Service and Parts Departments stock dealer inventories and conduct service schools to train servicemen around the country.
